Death Shelly Kagan,2012-04-24 There is one thing we can be sure of we are all going to die But once we accept that fact the questions begin In this thought provoking book philosophy professor Shelly Kagan examines the myriad questions that arise when we confront the meaning of mortality Do we have reason to believe in the existence of immortal souls Should we accept an account according to which people are just material objects nothing more Can we make sense of the idea of surviving the death of one s body If I won t exist after I die can death truly be bad for me Would immortality be desirable Is fear of death appropriate Is suicide ever justified How should I live in the face of death Written in an informal and conversational style this stimulating and provocative book challenges many widely held views about death as it invites the reader to take a fresh look at one of the central features of the human condition the fact that we will die Teaching

Religion and Film Gregory J Watkins,2008-08-22 In Teaching Religion and Film an interdisciplinary team of scholars thinks about the theoretical and pedagogical concerns involved with the intersection of film and religion in the classroom They examine the use of film to teach specific religious traditions religious theories and perspectives on fundamental human values Some instructors already teach some version of a film and religion course and many have integrated film as an ancillary to achieving central course goals This collection of essays helps them understand the field better and draws the sharp distinction between merely watching movies in the classroom and comprehending film in an informed and critical way
