Life Of A Salesman:

Life of a Salesman Marvin Rubinstein, 2013-08 National and international salespeople experience a variety of difficulties in the course of their profession but they don't get much understanding from the public. In this personal account Marvin Rubinstein looks back at a career traveling from city to city and country to country trying to make a buck in this eye-opening account of what it's really like to be in the sales business. Even if you're a salesperson sitting in a comfortable chair and calling people on the phone, you can find entertainment and valuable lessons in this instructive narrative. You'll discover tips on converting prospects into customers, guidance on avoiding cultural missteps, advice on making air travel cheaper and more comfortable, and ground rules for meeting friendly members of the opposite sex if you're in that market. Part memoir, part travelogue, and part sales guide, Rubinstein's story recalls the wide range of trials, tribulations, opportunities, and disappointments that he experienced during his lifetime of sales adventure. Life of a Salesman Stephen Williams, Patrick J. Williams, Josiah Williams, 2017-06-21 Life of a Salesman contains scores of wonderful, interesting, and amusing stories of people and events from my 35 years of life on the road as a traveling salesman. My wife and children enjoyed hearing these stories and encouraged me to chronicle them. I hope you enjoy reading them as much as I enjoyed living them. Life of a Salesman Jackson R. Alex (author), 1901 The Insurance Salesman, 1923 Life of a Salesman Julius Troy, 2010-10-25 Sales advice from a successful Willie Loman. True stories from the road and old-fashioned sales techniques. Julius Troy was a salesman for sixty years, covering most of the Northern corridor. His rags to riches story proves that nice guys indeed do not finish last. Touching, charming, sometimes raunchy tales from a salt-of-the-earth man with both a mind and a heart for business. Carl Goldstein may not be famous, but he is well known in the textile industry. Despite not having a father figure in his youth, Carl demonstrated early on that he was industrious and willing to learn. He had many odd jobs, including summers working the carny circuit on Coney Island and selling ice cream on the street. When he got his first real job as a sample boy, he never looked back. He is the antithesis of Arthur Miller's tragic hero Willie Loman. Today he is a happy grandfather who still makes sales calls with the vigor and enthusiasm of people half his age. As a businessman, he never ran a multibillion-dollar firm. Carl didn't go to business school and climb the corporate ladder the way others did. He was a complete non-achiever; you can almost say failure in school. His training was entirely on the job. His 50 years in the workplace gave him invaluable experience, the kind that isn't necessarily taught in the classroom Success is not just measured in money it comes in many different forms and it's measured in other ways As Carl became more successful he gained more responsibility and covered more territory He became not just a manager but a leader and a philanthropist As most high reaching executives learn giving back is one of the great pleasures in life Carl knows that sharing his good fortune is a reward in itself One of his causes is the Fashion Institute of Technology a major training ground for the future stars in the rag trade Carl quietly confesses that one of the few goals he has not achieved was not earning a college degree In this book Behind the Curtain Life of a Salesman the author will guide you through his personal history and regale you with tales of his travels travails and triumphs Along the way you will read his thoughtful commentary on the state of American business its strengths and its weaknesses It is one of the most lucid descriptions of our extremely complicated economy that according to Mario Cuomo the former three term governor of New York I have ever read By itself this discussion makes this book a worthwhile effort The Insurance Observer ,1904
