

Chiller Maintenance Checklist

Chillers are a critical element in HVAC systems. Chillers take the heat out of the air and also are implemented in industrial settings to cool down equipment. This checklist is designed to help chiller owners and maintenance personnel conduct detailed and reliable maintenance on air-cooled chillers.

Air-Cooled Chiller Maintenance & Inspection Checklist

1. Follow this list as you inspect and maintain your chiller. Each item is important and diligent chiller maintenance will save money and make the system last longer.
2. Inspect water inlet and outlet for leaks.
3. Clean out and inspect the sump for corrosion.
4. Cooling coils need to be inspected and surfaces cleaned. Check for leaks, corrosion, or bent fins.
5. The zone control actuators should be inspected, cleaned, and all adjustments made.
6. The compressor needs various areas checked, these include: refrigerant charge, vibration, crankcase heater, oil levels and changes, operating temperatures, and if there are any leaks of refrigerant or oil.
7. Condenser fans should be cleaned, bearings need to be checked for wear and lubricated, and belts and couplings need to be checked and tightness checked or adjusted as necessary.
8. The condenser coil should be checked for corrosion and leaks and all fins or combs need to be checked for bent sections.
9. The electrical disconnect should be inspected for proper operation and the contacts should be inspected and cleaned.
10. The exhaust air damper needs to be inspected for proper operation, have the bearings lubricated, and calibrate or adjust it for optimal operation.
11. Return air dampers also should be checked for proper operation, calibration, and bearings be lubricated.
12. The fresh air damper should also be inspected, calibrated, and bearings lubricated.
13. The filter dryer also should be inspected and any old, dirty, or damaged filters be replaced.

When To Inspect Chillers

Chillers should be inspected and maintained at least 2 times a year in areas where they are only used during the cooling seasons, or 4 times a year in areas that cool in all 4 seasons. Quarterly inspection helps your chillers, HVAC system, and cooling towers last longer and run more efficiently.
