Adapting Television and Literature Blythe Worthy, Paul

Sheehan, 2024-04-24 Adapting Television and Literature is an incisive collection of essays that explores the growing subcategory of television adaptations of literature and poetics. Each chapter questions inflexible notions of film literature and adaptation intertext, focusing judiciously on emergent or overlooked media and literary forms. These lines of enquiry embrace texts both within and beyond adaptation proper to reveal the complex relationships between literary works, television adaptations, and related dialogues of textual interconnectivity. Adapting Television and Literature proposes in particular a re-seeing of four genres pivotal to television and its history: caustic comedy, which claims for itself more freedoms than other forms of scripted television; auteurist outlaw drama; an offbeat niche genre that aligns a fixation on lawbreakers with issues of creative control; young adult reinventions that vitalise this popular yet under-examined area of television studies; and transcultural exchanges which highlight adaptations beyond the white Anglo-American programming that dominates peak TV. Through these genres, Adapting Television and Literature examines the creative resources of adaptation, plotting future paths for enquiries into television literature and transmedial storytelling.

Criminal Moves Jesper Gulddal, Stewart King, Alistair Rolls, 2019 Criminal Moves is a ground-breaking collection of essays that challenges the distinction between literary and popular fiction and proposes that crime fiction is a genre that constantly violates its own boundaries. Reorienting crime fiction studies towards the mobility of the genre, it has profound ramifications for how we read individual crime stories.

French Crime Fiction Claire Gorrara, 2009 This book is one of the first English language studies to chart the development of crime fiction in French from the mid-nineteenth century to the present day. It analyses the distinctive features of a French language tradition and introduces readers to a rich and varied body of work. Each chapter examines a specific period, movement, or group of writers as well as engaging with wider debates on the place of crime fiction within contemporary French and European culture. From early twentieth-century pioneers such as Gaston Leroux and Maurice Leblanc to the phenomenal success of Georges Simenon from 1928 to the gender politics of crime fiction and postmodern reinventions, this collection approaches crime fiction in an interdisciplinary manner. Alive to the innovative and often critically informed perspective it provides on French society and culture, the book also includes short extracts in English translation and an extensive bibliography of critical material for further reading. Such resources are aimed at encouraging the reader to gain a greater appreciation and understanding of this potent and formidable narrative of modern times.
