

My own situation in Seoul was fortunately not as dramatic, but after a long day in the big city it was a relief to know that in the evening there was this pocket beyond time and space where I could just lock the door and crash. To be on foreign ground—but in parenthesis—not even feeling the urge to open a crack in the curtains.

During the day I walked the backstreets and looked into other people's homes. And sometimes, if I was absorbed by taking photographs, I suddenly found myself face-to-face with people who, just like me, thought they were totally alone: An elderly workman half asleep in a parked car, a young shop
