Manual Of Protective Action Guides And Protective:

Manual of Protective Action Guides and Protective Actions for Nuclear Incidents ,1980 PAG Manual ,2016 The U S Environmental Protection Agency EPA has developed this Manual to assist public officials in planning for emergency response to radiological incidents For purposes of this document a radiological incident is an event or a series of events deliberate or accidental leading to the release or potential release into the environment of radioactive materials in sufficient quantity to warrant consideration of protective actions This Manual provides radiological protection criteria for application to all incidents that would require consideration of protective actions Manual of Protective Action Guides and Protective Actions for Nuclear Incidents. Revision ,1980 This manual has been prepared to provide practical guidance to State local and other officials on criteria to use in planning protective actions for radiological emergencies that could present a hazard to the public The guidance presented here is not intended as a substitute for or an addendum to a State radiological emergency response plan It is intended only to provide information for use in the development of such a plan The manual is organized to provide first a general discussion of Protective Action Guides and their use in planning for the implementation of protective actions to protect the public This is followed by chapters dealing with Protective Action Guides for specific exposure pathways and time periods The application of Protective Action Guides and protective actions is discussed separately for various categories of source terms Support information that has not been previously published is provided as appendices PAG Manual United States. Kelly,1980 Assessing Medical Preparedness to Respond to a Terrorist Nuclear Event Institute of Medicine,Board on Health Sciences Policy,Committee on Medical Preparedness for a Terrorist Nuclear Event,2009-08-19 A nuclear attack on a large U S city by terrorists even with a low yield improvised nuclear device IND of 10 kilotons or less would cause a large number of deaths and severe injuries The large number of injured from the detonation and radioactive fallout that would follow would be overwhelming for local emergency response and health care systems to rescue and treat even assuming that these systems and their personnel were not themselves incapacitated by the event The United States has been struggling for some time to address and plan for the threat of nuclear terrorism and other weapons of mass destruction that terrorists might obtain and use The Department of Homeland Security recently contracted with the Institute of Medicine to hold a workshop summarized in this volume to assess medical preparedness for a nuclear detonation of up to 10 kilotons This book provides a candid and sobering look at our current state of preparedness for an IND and identifies several key areas in which we might begin to focus our national efforts in a way that will improve the overall level of preparedness
