Memoirs of a Militant Nawal Qasim Baidoun, 2023-01-11 A first person account of a young woman activist imprisoned for four years in the notorious Khiam Women s Prison Shattering the notion that Muslim women did not play an active role in armed resistance and national liberation struggles A unique and rare insight into the life of a woman living in extreme and uncertain conditions Recounting the Israeli invasion and occupation of South Lebanon Brilliantly translated by Michelle Hartman and Caline Nasrallah from McGill University in Montreal An important message about the need to liberate prisoners and the call for solidarity in the face of injustice Shattering the notion that Muslim women did not play an active role in armed resistance national liberation struggles In order to carry on with life in prison you must believe you will be there forever In the haunting and inspiring Memoirs of a Militant My Years in the Khiam Women s Prison Nawal Baidoun offers us her first person account of the life of a young woman activist imprisoned for four years as well as the events leading up to her arrest and detention Born into a nationalist family in Bint Jbeil Lebanon not far from the location of the prison itself Baidoun like so many others found herself compelled to take up arms to resist the Israeli occupation Her memoir skillfully weaves together two stories that of the oppressive conditions facing ordinary people and families in South Lebanon and that of the horrors of daily life and the struggle for survival inside the prison itself Arrested for her role in planning the assassination of the well known Israeli agent and collaborator Husayn Abdel Nabi Baidoun was at one point detained with Soha Bechara a fellow militant whose similar operation is better known Her activism rooted in her Islamic faith Baidoun shatters the notion that Muslim women did not play an active role in the armed resistance Much like her sisters in Algeria and Palestine Nawal Baidoun belongs to a generation of Muslim women in the Arab world who played a significant role in their national liberation struggles She describes the intense mental and physical torture she endured and her refusal to confess despite this Memoirs of a Militant offers us rare and unique insight into the strength and courage of Baidoun in extreme circumstances and conditions Nawal Baidoun herself has said that she wrote this book as a sort of history lesson for the generations who come after her to show the ways in which women actively took part in the resistance and struggle against the occupation Her strongly abolitionist message about prisons and the need to liberate all prisoners and detainees resonates strongly today as does her call for solidarity in the face of injustice

Arab Women Writers Raḍwá 'Āshūr, Ferial Jabouri Ghazoul, Hasna Reda-Mekdash, Mandy McClure, 2008 Arab women's writing in the modern age began with A'isha al Taymuriya Warda al Yaziji Zaynab Fawwaz and other nineteenth century pioneers in Egypt and the Levant This unique study first published in Arabic in 2004 looks at the work of those pioneers and then traces the development of Arab women's literature through the end of the twentieth century and also includes a meticulously researched comprehensive bibliography of writing by Arab women In the first section in nine essays that cover the Arab Middle East from Morocco to Iraq and Syria to Yemen critics and writers from the Arab world examine the origin and evolution of women's writing in each country in the region addressing fiction poetry drama and autobiographical writing The second part of the volume contains bibliographical entries for over 1 200 Arab women writers from the last third of the nineteenth century through 1999 Each entry contains a short biography and a bibliography of each author's published works This section also includes Arab women's writing in French and English as well as a bibliography of works translated into English With its broad scope and extensive research this book is an indispensable resource for anyone interested in Arabic literature women's studies or comparative literature Contributors Emad Abu Ghazi Radwa Ashour Mohammed Berrada Ferial J Ghazoul Subhi Hadidi Haydar Ibrahim Yumna al Id Su'ad al Mani Iman al Qadi Amina Rachid Huda al Sadda Hatim al Sakr

Reading Arab Women's Autobiographies Nawar Al-Hassan Golley, 2010-01-01 Authors of autobiographies are always engaged in creating a self to present to their readers This process of self creation raises a number of intriguing questions why and how does anyone choose to present herself or himself in an autobiography Do women and men represent themselves in different ways and if so why How do differences in culture affect the writing of autobiography in various parts of the world This book tackles these questions through a close examination of Arab women's autobiographical writings Nawar Al Hassan Golley applies a variety of western critical theories including Marxism colonial discourse feminism and narrative theory to the autobiographies of Huda Shaarawi Fadwa Tuqan Nawal el Saadawi and others to demonstrate what these critical methodologies can reveal about Arab women's writing At the same time she also interrogates these theories against the chosen texts to see how adequate or appropriate these models are for analyzing texts from other cultures This two fold investigation sheds important new light on how the writers or editors of Arab women's autobiographies have written documented presented and organized their texts

Memoir Writing in a Women's Prison Chantelle Runion, Kenna Marie Skoric, Julieanna Emmet, 2021-01-06 Incarcerated women historically have prior membership in marginalized communities resulting in high rates of under education unemployment single parenthood poverty intimate partner abuse and low self esteem These 6 week long book study curricula grounded in transformative learning theory is designed to wholeheartedly foster the educational growth of women incarcerated at the Wyoming Women s Center through development of self competence and critical thinking Through engaging collaborative and critical exploration of a woman s memoir entitled Wild From Lost to Found on the Pacific Crest Trail incarcerated women reflected on their lived experiences and their place in family and society This self inquiry learning coupled with empathic group discussions brought awareness to shared experiences social struggles personal conflicts and reflective thinking culminating with each woman authoring her own memoir The memoirs of eleven incarcerated women are the foundation of this book This collaborative work between University of Wyoming UW students faculty and Wyoming Women s Center WWC student inmates included the draft revision and preparation of incarcerated women s memoir written at the conclusion of the book study The UW student editors collaborated in the memoir writing project with the goal of supporting Social Justice in prison education. The authors wrote their memoirs for publication with the hope of helping young girls learn from their mistakes. This work was carried out in the summer of 2018. This class brought together ten UW students and faculty to help eleven WWC student inmates write a memoir for publication. The memoirs were approved for publication by Wyoming Department of Corrections WDOC. The inmate authors signed letters of consent for the publication of their memoir. The names of the authors and subjects in their memoirs have been changed to protect the privacy of all individuals. The proceeds will benefit Wyoming Pathways from Prison WPfP, a higher education program developed for incarcerated men and women in Wyoming.

Muslim Feminism and Feminist Movement Abida Samiuddin, R. Khanam, 2002. The sole objective of this three volumes book Muslim Feminism and Feminist Movement in South Asia India Pakistan Bangladesh and Sri Lanka is to provide a comprehensive analysis of the nature and motivation of feminism and feminist movement in Islamic perspective. Here we are presenting few important articles contributed by eminent scholars on this subject. There have been three major waves of Muslim feminist expression: first wave is an expression of gender consciousness, individual feminist writings; second wave is everyday activism including individual innovations in daily life; and third wave is an organized movement activism which is highly visible and more confrontational.

Arab Women Suha Sabbagh, 1996. The lives of Arab women today are complex, diverse, and far more multi-faceted than those of the one-dimensional creatures of veiled passivity who inhabit the imaginations of so many Western experts. In most Arab countries, women face constricting laws and social customs that hold them back from full participation in their societies. Some, as a result, lead lives of passive submission. But others rage against those institutional obstacles, organize other women to challenge male domination of their public and private lives, and seize every opening, large or small, to move the rights of women at least that one next step. Arab women labor in dangerous factories and unmechanized fields, they keep families intact and care for their children without access to modern technology, sometimes even without electricity or clean water. But they also fill medical and engineering schools in universities throughout the Arab world; they are creating some of the greatest art and literature of their rich cultures; they serve bravely in overwhelmingly male parliaments; and they organize and fight with or without men's consent for incremental democratic gains and sometimes for their own rights as women. This collection brings together a distinguished cast of Arab women writers and other experts and analyzes the lives, the diverse roles, and the means of overcoming the challenges that confront women in today's Arab societies. Essays examine feminism, women's education, and daily lives; women's views of Islam; and women, Islamists, and women's roles in war and literature. It also includes interviews with women political leaders such as Palestine's Hanan Mikhail Ashrawi and Jordan's Leila Sharaf.
