Golden Age of Chinese Drama Chung-wen

Shih, 2015-03-08 The 171 extant plays of the Yuan period 1279 1368 are the oldest and most brilliant examples of Chinese dramatic literature In this first comprehensive study Chung wen Shih systematically explores the riches of Yuan drama from its unexcelled lyric poetry to its colorful characterization After tracing the popular genres that contributed to the flowering of Yuan drama the author describes conventional features of dramatic construction methods of characterization and recurring themes The central focus is on the use of language prose passages and lyrics are cited to show how innovative use of spoken language invests the prose with a remarkable strength and suppleness and how imaginative use of figurative language endows the poetry with an incomparable richness of texture Attention is also given to the use of music and physical aspects of staging Originally published in 1976 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Metaphor and Communication Elisabetta

Gola, Francesca Ervas, 2016-02-24 This collection of papers presents different views on metaphor in communication The overall aim is to show that the communicative dimension of metaphor cannot be reduced to its conceptual and or linguistic dimension The volume addresses two main questions does the communicative dimension of metaphor have specific features that differentiate it from its linguistic and cognitive dimensions And how could these specific properties of communication change our understanding of the linguistic and cognitive dimensions of metaphor The authors of the papers collected in this volume offer answers to these questions that raise new interests in metaphor and communication Getting to the Core of English Language Arts, Grades 6-12 Vicky Giouroukakis, Maureen Connolly, 2012-04-19 Design effective CCSS aligned lessons for secondary students If you want to revamp your secondary English Language Arts curriculum to reflect the Common Core State Standards this book is the perfect resource The authors move the implementation of the CCSS for ELA from the abstract to the concrete by providing adaptable exemplar lesson plans in each of the CCSS strands reading writing speaking and listening and language Each lesson template includes Intended grade level band timeline and the type of student writing involved Connections to supporting theory including the Backward Design model Variations to differentiate the lesson for diverse student populations Ways to link the lesson to technology and service learning Reproducible handouts The lesson narratives also give tips for incorporating technology into lessons and connecting them to enduring theorists in education Dewey Bloom and Gardner The final section offers collaboration strategies for connecting via technology to colleagues beyond the school building and working together on CCSS based ELA lessons This practical easy to use guide will help you navigate the most efficient route to creating standards based lessons that optimize student learning Socializing Intelligence Through Academic Talk and Dialogue Lauren Resnick, Christa Asterhan, Sherice Clarke, 2015-04-19 Socializing Intelligence Through Academic Talk and Dialogue focuses on a fast growing topic in education research Over the course of 34 chapters the contributors discuss theories and case studies that shed light on the effects of dialogic participation in and outside the classroom This rich interdisciplinary endeavor will appeal to scholars and researchers in education and many related disciplines including learning and cognitive sciences educational psychology instructional science and linguistics as well as to teachers curriculum designers and educational policy makers The Re-Imagined Text Jean I. Marsden, 2014-07-15 Shakespeare's plays were not always the inviolable texts they are almost universally considered to be today The Restoration and eighteenth century committed what many critics view as one of the most subversive acts in literary history the rewriting and restructuring of Shakespeare's plays Many of us are familiar with Nahum Tate's audacious adaptation of King Lear with its resoundingly happy ending but Tate was only one of a score of playwrights who adapted Shakespeare's plays Between 1660 and 1777 more than fifty adaptations appeared in print and on the stage works in which playwrights augmented substantially cut or completely rewrote the original plays The plays were staged with new characters new scenes new endings and underlying all this novelty new words Why did this happen And why in the later eighteenth century did it stop These questions have serious implications regarding both the aesthetics of the literary text and its treatment for the adaptations manifest the period's perceptions of Shakespeare As such they demonstrate an important evolution in the definition of poetic language and in the idea of what constitutes a literary work In The Re-Imagined Text Jean I Marsden examines both the adaptations and the network of literary theory that surrounds them thereby exploring the problems of textual sanctity and of the author's relationship to the text. As she demonstrates, Shakespeare's works and English literature in general came to be defined by their words rather than by the plots and morality on which the older aesthetic theory focused. A clear step toward our modern concern for the word and its varying levels of signification.
