The Phenomenological Study of the Lost

Generation of Sudan Elias Rinaldo Gamboriko,2015-01-14 The purpose of this study was to examine the situation of the lost girls and boys of Sudan and to identify the effects of civil war in the country The effects of war in the country left most Sudanese traumatized in refugee camps while a few managed to relocate to the United States and settle in South Dakota Through this study some of the lived experiences of several lost girls and boys who have suffered psychologically and socially as a result of being exposed to civil war and being forced to relocate to the United States have been identified The degree to which these Sudanese immigrants current lives in the U S are affected by what they witnessed and experienced as well as the extent to which their treatment was helpful in restoring their mental health was also examined Information from the interviews showed that each of the experiences of these young men and women were unique and that each immigrant coped with their experiences differently One conclusion drawn from the study was that a majority of the support for these new immigrants should be given to those individuals who are 18 or older when they arrive Positioning Diversity in Kenyan

Schools Malve von,2022-06-01 Education is considered key for societies to achieve greater social cohesion and equality Yet schools as the main providers of formal education have increasingly come into question concerning their role in manifesting and perpetuating social categorisations inequalities and discrimination instead of decreasing existing fragmentations and challenging power relations and hierarchies As a diverse society Kenya is faced with power struggles and rivalries between different groups for instance along ethnic lines often constructed deep in colonial history This affects teaching and learning in school and the result is that Kenya is faced with vast disparities in terms of educational access and success rendering some social groups marginalised and others favoured Positioning Diversity at Kenyan Schools explores the ways in which teachers in Kenyan primary and secondary schools experience and deal with social categorisations and diversity in terms of ethnicity gender wealth culture religion etc in their professional practice and in the current education system Using critical pedagogy and diversity theory as a lens for positioning diversity in Kenyan schools the questions that this book sets out to answer are In what ways do the teachers and schools practices lead to transformation in terms of more social equality and less discrimination In what ways do the practices manifest existing group categorisations hierarchies and discrimination How can schools and teaching practices in postcolonial Kenya become more inclusive and foster social cohesion and equality

World Survey of Education, 1966 Using Examinations to Improve Education Thomas Kellaghan, Vincent Greaney, 1992. A detailed description is presented of the types, functions, performance levels, governance, administration, and funding of public examinations in 14 Sub-Saharan African countries with different educational traditions based on English, French, or other backgrounds. The countries are 1 Kenya, 2 Lesotho, 3 Mauritius, 4 Swaziland, 5 Uganda, 6 Zambia, 7 Chad, 8 Guinea, 9 Madagascar, 10 Mauritania, 11 Rwanda, 12 Togo, 13 Cape Verde, and 14 Ethiopia. In virtually all of these countries, public examinations are offered at the end of primary, elementary school, lower secondary school, and upper secondary school. Procedures for funding, constructing, administering, and scoring the examinations are discussed. Issues discussed include passing rates, the effects of examinations on teaching and grade repetition, the roles of assessment, implications of national policies, and other current international issues in education. Guidelines are offered for improving the quality of examinations and their uses. This synthesis report draws on a series of studies supported by the World Bank. Findings from the 14 studies confirm that public examinations may help raise academic standards but can also cause many problems in an educational system. Nine tables present data from the studies. A 105-item list of references and three appendices with supplemental information are included.

SLD African Urban Quarterly, 1992 African Journal of Education Studies, 2006 Teachers, Teacher Education, and Training Keith Watson, Celia Modgil, Sohan Modgil, 1997.
