The COVID-19 Pandemic and Older Adults Edward Alan Miller, 2025-06-27 The rapid onset of the COVID 19 pandemic presented a multi faceted challenge to older adults carers and care institutions globally Despite a wide range of policies that achieved some success in protecting older adults from serious illness and death from COVID 19 older adults continue to bear the burden of risk for these most severe outcomes Additionally some early efforts to protect older adults often via extreme isolation measures both within care facilities and in the community yielded unanticipated health and psychosocial impacts on older adults and care and service networks and revealed systemic ageism in health and social policies worldwide This book compiles research conducted both during and after the height of the COVID 19 pandemic on the impacts of immediate response efforts while delving into the longer term differential effects across population subgroups and organizations Four main areas examined in the volume s 25 chapters Flexibility and innovation in early responses ageism and isolation long term care and the direct care workforce and disparities in access and experiences Governments agencies and aging services organizations will benefit from fully considering lessons learned and incorporating them into future emergency response efforts accounting for similarities and differences in manifestations and consequences across different subpopulations and organization and policy contexts
