BEST PRACTICES FROM FINLAND S HIGH PERFORMING SCHOOL SYSTEM Empowered Educators in Finland is one volume in a series that explores how high performing educational systems from around the world achieve strong results The anchor book Empowered Educators How High Performing Systems Shape Teaching Quality Around the World is written by Linda Darling Hammond and colleagues with contributions from the authors of this volume Empowered Educators in Finland explores Finland s unique approach to teacher training that combined with a national focus on equity and children has led to strong student results on the OECD PISA and other international tests Since the 1930s every child born in Finland has been provided with a box of clothes sheets toys diapers and even a small mattress the box itself can and often does serve as a simple crib Intended to ensure that all Finnish children begin with the essentials this box also serves as a clear symbol of the nation's emphasis on equality and opportunity. This book describes how what is commonly thought to be just a part of Finnish culture is actually the result of strong support for educators at all levels of government. From the Ministry of Education and Culture to the Finnish National Board of Education to regional and local policy makers, Finland has made deliberate choices to create and support a strong educational system. While there are unique political, cultural, and societal features of Finland, as with all countries, there are many lessons to be learned and practical ideas to be implemented across the world.

Teaching the World's Teachers Lauren Lefty, James W. Fraser, 2020-07-07

Examining teacher education in an international context, this book captures the diversity of the world's educators. Many countries confront surprisingly similar challenges in preparing K-12 educators for success, while national contexts also make for surprising differences. In Teaching the World's Teachers, education historians Lauren Lefty and James W. Fraser and their contributors make a convincing case for approaching these shared challenges from a more global and historically minded perspective. Written by education scholars from eleven different countries: Argentina, Brazil, Catalonia, Spain, China, England, Finland, Ghana, Israel, Singapore, South Africa, and the United States, this book provides histories of teacher education reforms between roughly 1980 and 2020. The authors show how international trends that emerged during this period collided with national and regional contexts to produce unique teacher education systems in different nations. While in some countries the embrace of markets and competition led to a deregulation of the teacher preparation field, in others teaching became a highly regulated and centralized affair. At the same time, ideas and structural models cross borders, and education leaders borrow from each other while reshaping plans in each place. Opening with a broad historical overview of global teacher education models beginning in the late eighteenth century, Teaching the World's Teachers argues that the field has long been characterized by cross-border connections but shaped by geopolitical hierarchies of power. In an era when teacher quality is widely recognized as one of the most important factors in a child's education, this volume encourages dialogue among teacher educators and policymakers around the world. By understanding the context and contingency of where we have been, the authors hope that readers will walk away with a more empowered sense of where we are headed in the all-important task of teaching the world's teachers.
