Mirror on America , 2009 Mirror on America Joan T. Mims, Elizabeth M. Nollen, 1999-09-01 Deconstructing South Park Brian Cogan, 2012-01-01 Deconstructing South Park Critical Examinations of Animated Transgression is the first book to systematically analyze the cultural phenomenon of South Park from a wide scope of theoretical approaches Brian Cogan and the other contributors address the show from perspectives as diverse as media studies disability studies and literary theory to ideological analysis deviancy studies and media studies Deconstructing South Park represents an essential contribution to television media studies for both academics and popular audiences alike The Cultural Turn in Translation Studies Wang Ning, 2023-12-06 Applying the latest Western translation theories to the situation in China this book redefines translation from an interdisciplinary and intercultural perspective bringing intercultural semiotic translation into the sight of translation researchers This book systematically expounds on the cultural turn in translation studies and contributes to the escape of translation studies from the cage of language It focuses on discussing the deconstructive postmodernist and cultural translation theories that have motivated and promoted the cultural turn especially Benjamin s translation theory

Derrida's deconstructive view of translation and postcolonial translation theory. It also discusses in detail the theories of major international translation theorists including Hillis Miller, Wolfgang Iser, Edward Said, Gayatri Spivak, Homi Bhabha, Andr  Lefevere, Susan Bassnett, and Lawrence Venuti. These theories are mostly based on examples from Western or English language texts, leaving a wide gap in the discourse of the field. This book seeks to fill that gap. For example, intercultural semiotic translation is defined and explained through the successful experiences of the Chinese translator Fu Lei. The role of translation during the Chinese revolution and the relocation of Chinese culture in the global cultural landscape through translation are also discussed. This book will be an essential read to students and scholars of translation studies and Chinese studies. It will also be a useful resource for translators and researchers of comparative literature and cultural studies.

Providing a thorough and comprehensive introduction to the study of photography, this second edition of Photography: The Key Concepts has been expanded and updated to cover more fully contemporary changes to photography. Photography is a part of everyday life, from news and advertisements to data collection and surveillance to the shaping of personal and social identity; we are constantly surrounded by the photographic image. Outlining an overview of photographic genres, David Bate explores how these varied practices can be coded and interpreted using key theoretical models. Building upon the genres included in the first edition (documentary, portraiture, landscape, still life, art, and global photography), this second edition includes two new chapters on snapshots and the act of looking. The revised and expanded chapters are supported by over three times as many photographs as in the first edition, examining contemporary practices in more detail and equipping students with the analytical skills they need both in their academic studies and in their own practical work. An indispensable guide to the field, Photography: The Key Concepts is core reading for all courses that consider the place of photography in society, within photographic practice, visual culture, art, media, and cultural studies.

Gender, Race and Class in Media Gail Dines, Jean M. Humez, 1995. This fine collection of perspectives and information will fill a major gap and help to push communication study in an urgently needed direction. Undergraduates, graduate students, and faculty alike have much to gain from this text. John Downing, Department of Radio, Television, Film, University of Texas, Austin. This is a well-conceived and provocative collection that goes a long way toward filling a real void in available classroom textbooks. I have no doubt that it will provoke many hours of discussion and debate about the relations between contemporary media forms and the politics of identity and difference. Larry Grossberg, Morris Davis, Professor of Communication Studies, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. This is one of the few books that really attempts to take the topic of mass media seriously while demonstrating a range of languages and approaches that illustrate
