tempereremarkably easy and indolent would have contented herself with merelygiving up her sister and thinking no more of the matter but Mrs Norris had a spirit of activity which could not be satisfied till shehad written a long and angry letter to Fanny to point out the folly ofher conduct and threaten her with all its possible ill consequences Mrs Price in her turn was injured and angry and an answer whichcomprehended each sister in its bitterness and bestowed such verydisrespectful reflections on the pride of Sir Thomas as Mrs Norriscould not possibly keep to herself put an end to all intercoursebetween them for a considerable period
