

Chapter 4 Process Costing

Solutions to Questions

- 4-1 A process costing system should be used in situations where a homogeneous product is produced on a continuous basis.
- 4-2 Job-order and process costing are similar in the following ways:
1. Job-order costing and process costing have the same basic purposes—to assign materials, labor, and overhead cost to products and to provide a mechanism for computing unit product costs.
 2. Both systems use the same basic manufacturing accounts.
 3. Costs flow through the accounts in basically the same way in both systems.
- 4-3 Cost accumulation is simpler under process costing because costs only need to be assigned to departments—not individual jobs. A company usually has a small number of processing departments, whereas a job-order costing system often must keep track of the costs of hundreds or even thousands of jobs.
- 4-4 In a process costing system, a Work in Process account is maintained for each processing department.
- 4-5 The journal entry to record the transfer of work in process from the Mixing Department to the Firing Department is:
- | | | |
|-------------------------|------|------|
| Work in Process, Firing | XXXX | |
| Work in Process, Mixing | | XXXX |
- 4-6 The costs that might be added in the Firing Department include: (1) costs transferred in from the Mixing Department; (2) materials costs added in the Firing Department; (3) labor costs added in the Firing Department; and (4) overhead costs added in the Firing Department.
- 4-7 Under the weighted-average method, equivalent units of production consist of units transferred to the next department (or to finished goods) during the period plus the equivalent units in the department's ending work in process inventory.
- 4-8 The company will want to distinguish between the costs of the metals used to make the medallions, but the medallions are otherwise identical and go through the same production processes. Thus, operation costing is ideally suited for the company's needs.
