Maloney, 2021-02 2023 AFHF Air Power History Book Prize Winner Emergency War Plan examines the theory and practice of American nuclear deterrence and its evolution during the Cold War Previous examinations of nuclear strategy during this time have for the most part categorized American efforts as massive retaliation and mutually assured destruction blunt instruments to be casually dismissed in favor of more flexible approaches or summed up in inflammatory and judgmental terms like MAD These descriptors evolved into slogans and any nuanced discussion of the efficacy of the actual strategies withered due to a variety of political and social factors Drawing on newly released weapons effects information along with new information about Soviet capabilities as well as risky and covert espionage missions Emergency War Plan provides a completely new examination of American nuclear deterrence strategy during the first fifteen years of the Cold War the first such study since the 1980s Ultimately what emerges is a picture of a gargantuan and potentially devastating enterprise that was understood at the time by the public in only the vaguest terms but that was not as out of control as has been alleged and was more nuanced than previously understood United States Department of State Treaties in Force; A List of Treaties and Other International Agreements of the United States in Force on January 1, 2018 , CERN Courier ,2015

New Destinations of Empire Emily Mitchell-Eaton,2024-11-01 In 1986 the Compact of Free Association marked the formal end of U S colonialism in the Republic of the Marshall Islands while simultaneously re entrenching imperial power dynamics between the two countries The U S RMI Compact at once enshrined exclusive U S military access to the islands and established the right of visa free migration to the United States for Marshallese citizens leading to a Marshallese diaspora whose largest population resettled in the seemingly unlikely destination of Springdale Arkansas An all white town by design for much of the twentieth century Springdale having nearly quadrupled in population since 1980 has been remade by Marshallese as well as Latinx immigration Through ethnographic policy based and archival research in Gu han Saipan Hawai i Arkansas and Washington D C New Destinations of Empire tells the story of these place based transformations revealing how U S empire both causes and constrains mobility for its subjects shaping migrants experiences of racialization citizenship and belonging in new destinations of empire In examining two spatial processes imperialism and migration together Emily Mitchell Eaton reveals connections and flows between presumably distant remote sites like Arkansas and the Marshall Islands showing them to be central to the United States most urgent political issues immigration racial justice militarization and decolonization
