Memorandum Geography 2013 Theory Grade 1paper 1

Philippe Coulangeon,Julien Duval

Memorandum Geography 2013 Theory Grade 1paper 1:

The Routledge Companion to Bourdieu's 'Distinction' Philippe Coulangeon, Julien Duval, 2014-10-30 This edited collection explores the genesis of Bourdieu's classical book Distinction and its international career in contemporary Social Sciences. It includes contributions from contemporary sociologists from diverse countries who question the theoretical legacy of this book in various fields and national contexts. Invited authors review and exemplify current controversies concerning the theses promoted in Distinction in the sociology of culture, lifestyles, social classes and stratification with a specific attention dedicated to the emerging forms of cultural capital and the logics of distinction that occur in relation to material consumption or bodily practices. They also empirically illustrate the theoretical contribution of Distinction in relation with such notions as field or habitus which fruitfulness is emphasized in relation with some methodological innovations of the book. In this respect a special focus is put on the emerging stream of distinction studies and on the opportunities offered by the geometrical data analysis of social spaces.

Muslim Fashion Reina Lewis, 2015-10-15 In the shops of London's Oxford Street girls wear patterned scarves over their hair as they cluster around makeup counters. Alongside them hip twenty somethings style their head wraps in high black topknots to match their black boot cut trousers. Participating in the world of popular mainstream fashion often thought to be the domain of the West, these young Muslim women are part of an emergent cross faith transnational youth subculture of modest fashion. In treating hijab and other forms of modest clothing as fashion, Reina Lewis counters the overuse of images of veiled women as evidence in the prevalent suggestion that Muslims and Islam are incompatible with Western modernity. Muslim Fashion contextualizes modest wardrobe styling within Islamic and global consumer cultures, interviewing key players including designers, bloggers, shoppers, store clerks and shop owners. Focusing on Britain, North America and Turkey, Lewis provides insights into the ways young Muslim women use multiple fashion systems to negotiate religion, identity and ethnicity.

A Global Idea Mayssoun Sukarieh, 2023-08-15 A Global Idea outlines how youth, as shown by the Arab Spring uprisings and subsequent state responses, became a prominent social and political category during the first two decades of the twenty first century in the Middle East. Drawing on ethnographic fieldwork, interview data and textual analysis, Mayssoun Sukarieh explains that the spread of youth as an important category is linked to the operation of a global youth development complex, a diverse transnational network of state, private sector, civil society and international development aid organizations that worked through key urban areas such as Washington DC, Amman and Dubai. In its analysis of the arrival, extension and embedding of the youth development complex in the Middle East during this period, A Global Idea addresses a broader question that is of global and not just regional concern: How are certain ideas that are central to the working and reproduction of global capitalism able to travel the world so that they are found virtually everywhere?

Taken For A Ride Matteo Rizzo, 2017-05-19 How does public transport work in an African city under neoliberalism? Who owns what in it? Who has the power to influence its shape and changes in it over time? What does it mean to be a precarious and informal worker in the private minibuses that provide public transport in Dar es Salaam. These are the main questions that inform this in-depth case study of Dar es Salaam's public transport system over more than forty years. The growth of cities and informal economies are two central manifestations of globalization in the developing world. Taken for a Ride addresses both drawing on long-term fieldwork in Dar es Salaam, Tanzania, and charting its public transport system's journey from public to private provision. This new addition to the Critical Frontiers of Theory, Research and Practice in International Development Studies series investigates this shift alongside the increasing deregulation of the sector and the resulting chaotic modality of public transport. It reviews state attempts to regain control over public transport and documents how informal wage relations prevailed in the sector. The changing political attitude of workers towards employers and the state is investigated from an initial incapacity to respond to exploitation to the political organisation and unionisation which won workers concessions on labour rights. A longitudinal study of workers throws light on patterns of occupational mobility in the sector and the political and economic interests that shaped the introduction of Bus Rapid Transit in Dar es Salaam and local resistance to it are analysed. Taken for a Ride reveals the political economy of public transport, exposing the limitations of market fundamentalist and post-colonial scholarship on economic informality, the urban experience in developing countries and the failure to locate the agency of the urban poor within their economic and political structures. It is both a contribution and a call for the contextualised study of actually existing neoliberalism.

Financialisation in the European Periphery Ana Cordeiro Santos, Nuno Teles, 2020-09-03 In many European countries the process of financialisation has been exacerbated by the project of closer EU integration and accelerated as a result of austerity policies introduced after the Euro crisis of 2010-2012. However, the impact has been felt differently in core and peripheral countries. This book examines the case of Portugal and in particular the impact on its economy, work and social reproduction. The book examines the recent evolution of the Portuguese economy of particular sectors and systems of social provision including finance, housing and water, labour relations and income distribution. In doing so, it offers a comprehensive critical analysis of varied aspects of capital accumulation and social reproduction in the country which are crucial to understand the effects of the official bail-out of 2011 and associated austerity adjustment program. The book shows how these have increasingly relied on deteriorating pay and working conditions and households' direct and indirect engagement with the global financial system in new domains of social reproduction. Through its exploration of the Portuguese case, the book presents a general theoretical and methodological framework for the analysis of financialisation processes in peripheral countries. This text is essential reading for students and scholars of political economy, development geography, international relations and sociology with an interest in examining the uneven mechanisms and impacts of global finance.

Property and Human Rights in a Global Context Ting Xu, Jean Allain, 2016-03-24 Property as a human rights concern is manifested through its incorporation in international instruments and as a subject of the law through property-related cases considered by international human rights organs. Yet for the most part the relationship between property and human rights has been discussed in rather superficial terms lacking a clear substantive connection or common language That said the currents of globalisation have witnessed a new era of interrelation between these two areas of the law including the emergence of international intellectual property law and the recognition of indigenous claims which in fundamental ways speak to an engagement with human rights law This collection starts the conversation between human rights lawyers and property lawyers and explores analytical approaches to the increasing relationship between property and human rights in a global context The chapters engage with key theoretical and policy debates and range across three main themes The re evaluation of the public private divide in the law the tensions between the market and social justice in development and the balance between the rights of individuals and those of communities The chapters adopt a global comparative perspective and engage in case studies from countries including India Philippines Brazil the United States the United Kingdom and includes various regions of Africa and Europe

The Rise and Rise of Illegal Ticket Touting Alessandro Moretti, 2023-02-10 This book presents an ethnographic study of contemporary ticket touts in the UK Despite the recent interest in the topic of black market ticket sales media coverage and parliamentary interventions over the last ten years have revealed a widespread lack of knowledge with regard to the phenomenon of touting and the players engaging in the practice The Rise and Rise of Illegal Ticket Touting sheds light on the world of touting and delivers an authentic picture of the individuals involved of their methods values and motivations for performing ticket touting as an organised entrepreneurial deviant activity The touts varied methods of buying and selling tickets the hierarchical structures and strict ethos of their criminal organisations and their specific modi operandi for evading detection and arrest both on the streets and online are focal points of the study Of equal importance are the touts attitudes perceptions and adaptations to or outright dismissal of society's legal and moral frameworks This book illuminates why historic and renewed attempts to challenge ticket touting have been unsuccessful focusing on inadequate legislation a lack of enforcement and the widespread corruption and exploitable loopholes that exist within the official primary ticket market An accessible and compelling read The Rise and Rise of Illegal Ticket Touting will appeal to students and scholars of criminology sociology social policy policing and all those with an interest in live music and sport and the hidden practices that lurk beneath the surface
