La Matrice De La Race:

Remnants of the Franco-Algerian Rupture Mona El Khoury, 2020-09-28 At the end of French colonization in Algeria four categories of people held French citizenship or had strong ties with France European settlers Jews mixed race individuals and Harkis The end of the War of Independence exiled most of them from Algeria traumatized them in various ways and transferred many to metropolitan France Remnants of the Franco-Algerian Rupture Archiving Postcolonial Minorities examines the legacies of these transnational identities through narratives that dissent from official histories both in France and Algeria This literature takes particular stories of exile and loss and constructs a memory around a Mosaic father figure embodying the native land Algeria Mona El Khoury argues that these filiation narratives create a postcolonial archive a discursive foundation that makes historical minorities visible while disrupting French and Algerian hegemonies El Khoury questions the power of literature to repair history while contending that these literary strategies seek to do justice to the dead Algerian father even as they valorize enduring minority identifications

The Black Populations of France Sylvain Pattieu, Emmanuelle Sibeud, Tyler Stovall, 2022-02 The Black Populations of France is a study of Black peoples and their history in France and the French Empire during the modern era from the eighteenth century to the present The contributors to this collection explore three main axes The first addresses circulations the ways Black populations have moved through the spaces of metropolitan France and the empire and focuses on the actors themselves and the margins of maneuver available to them particularly as soldiers sailors immigrants or political militants The second considers legacies and the ways the past has informed the present addressing themes such as the memory of slavery the histories of Black women and gender and the historical influence of African Americans on Blacks in France The final axis considers racial policy and the ways the state has shaped racial discourses through the interactions between state policies and ideas of race developed by individuals organizations and communities The Black Populations of France makes an important contribution to both modern French history and the history of the global Black diaspora By putting these histories in dialogue with each other it underscores the central place of France in world history

The Shaping of French National Identity Matthew D'Auria, 2020-12-03 The Shaping of French National Identity casts new light on the intellectual origins of the dominant and official French nineteenth century national narrative Focussing on the historical debates taking place throughout the eighteenth century and during the Restoration Matthew D'Auria evokes a time when the nation's origins were being questioned and discussed and when they acquired the meaning later enshrined in the official rhetoric of the Third Republic He examines how French writers and scholars reshaped the myths symbols and memories of pre modern communities Engaging with the myth of our ancestors the Gauls and its ideological triumph over the competing myth of our ancestors the Franks this study explores the ways in which the struggle developed and the values that the two discourses enshrined the collective actors they portrayed and the memories they evoked D'Auria draws attention to the continuity between ethnic discourses and national narratives and to the competition between various groups in their claims to represent the nation and to define their past as the true history of France

Racial Domination Loïc Wacquant, 2024-06-07 Race is arguably the single most troublesome and volatile concept of the social sciences in the early 21st century It is invoked to explain all manner of historical phenomena and current issues from slavery to police brutality to acute poverty and it is also used as a term of civic denunciation and moral condemnation In this erudite and incisive book based on a panoramic mining of comparative and historical research from around the globe Lo c Wacquant pours cold analytical water on this hot topic and infuses it with epistemological clarity conceptual precision and empirical breadth Drawing on Gaston Bachelard Max Weber and Pierre Bourdieu Wacquant first articulates a series of reframings starting with dislodging the United States from its Archimedean position in order to capture race making as a form of symbolic violence He then forges a set of novel concepts to rethink the nexus of racial classification and stratification the continuum of ethnicity and race as disguised ethnicity the diagonal of racialization and the pentad of ethnoracial domination the checkerboard of violence and the dialectic of salience and consequentiality This enables him to elaborate a meticulous critique of such fashionable notions as structural racism and racial capitalism that promise much but deliver little due to their semantic ambiguity and rhetorical malleability notions that may even hamper the urgent fight against racial inequality Wacquant turns to deploying this conceptual framework to dissect two formidable institutions of ethnoracial rule in America Jim Crow and the prison He draws on ethnographies and historiographies of white domination in the postbellum South to construct a robust analytical concept of Jim Crow as caste terrorism erected in the late 19th century He unravels the deadly symbiosis between the black hyperghetto and the carceral archipelago that has coproduced and entrenched the material and symbolic marginality of the African American precariat in the metropolis of the late 20th century Wacquant concludes with reflections on the politics of knowledge and pointers on the vexed question of the relationship between social epistemology and racial justice Both sharply focused and wide ranging synthetic yet controversial Racial Domination will be of interest to students and scholars of race and ethnicity power and inequality and epistemology and theory across the social sciences and humanities The Negro as a Political and Social Factor Frank G. Ruffin, 1896 La matrice de la race Elsa Dorlin, 2009 La race a une histoire qui renvoie l'histoire de la différence sexuelle Au XVIIIe siècle les discours médicaux considèrent le corps des femmes comme un corps malade et l'affligent de mille maux suffocation de la matrice hystérie fureur utérine etc Le sain et le malsain justifient efficacement l'inégalité des sexes et fonctionnent comme des catégories de pouvoir Aux Amériques les premiers naturalistes prennent alors modèle sur la différence sexuelle pour laborer le concept de race les Indiens Caraïbes ou les esclaves d'outre-mer seraient des populations au tempérament pathologique efféminé et faible Ce sont ces articulations entre genre sexualité et race et leur rôle central dans la formation de la Nation française qu'analyse Elsa Dorlin au croisement de la philosophie politique de l'histoire de la médecine et des études sur le genre La Nation prend littéralement corps dans le modèle féminin de la mère blanche et saine opposé aux figures d'une féminité dangereuse la sorcière la vaporeuse la vivandière hommasse la nymphomane la tribade et l'esclave africaine Il apparaît ainsi que le sexe et la race participent d'une même matrice au moment où la Nation française s'engage dans l'esclavage et la colonisation Compte-rendu des travaux ... Congrès international pour l'élevage de l'espèce bovine, 1923
