The Local Configuration of New Research Fields Martina Merz, Philippe

Sormani, 2015-10-27 This new Yearbook addresses the question of how policy place and organization are made to matter for a new research field to emerge Bringing together leading historians sociologists and organizational researchers on science and technology the volume answers this question by offering in depth case studies and comparative perspectives on multiple research fields in their nascent stage including molecular biology and materials science nanotechnology and synthetic biology The Yearbook brings to bear the lessons of constructivist ethnography and the practice turn in Science and Technology Studies STS more broadly on the qualitative comparative and critical inquiry of new research fields In doing so it offers unprecedented insights into the complex interplay of national research policies regional clusters particular research institutions and novel research practices in and for any emerging field of techno science It systematically investigates national and regional differences including the variable mobilization of such differences and probes them for organizational topicality and policy relevance

The Future of Indian Universities C. Raj Kumar, 2018-02-15 At a time of social political and economic shifts across the world India is faced with the pivotal challenge of addressing the state of its universities In a region that was home to the leading higher learning institutions during ancient times the descent in the quality of higher education offered by modern India s universities is yet to create the desired impact To be effective universities will need to create institutional ecosystems that are reflective of the complex and interconnected worlds their graduates will live in India s extraordinary demographic profile creates a compelling need for its universities to reimagine their roles The contributors in this volume argue for fundamental reforms to bring about a renewed sense of purpose The chapters are authored by leading scholars in the fields of law management educational theory liberal arts international relations and science and technology and reflect the multiple approaches necessary to address the most difficult challenges in our times The volume provides international and comparative perspectives on higher education and will be immensely useful in highlighting issues being faced by Indian universities Sudden arrhythmic death: from basic science to clinical practice Gareth D.

Matthews,2014-10-02 With upwards of 4 5 million deaths worldwide each year and more than one tenth of these occurring in those with no previously documented heart disease sudden arrhythmic death SAD is both a major public health burden and a highly emotive issue for society at large Recent years have witnessed a marked expansion in our knowledge of the physiology underlying SAD both in the context of hereditary and acquired cardiac disorders Thanks largely to work in genetically modified animals the growth in our understanding of mechanisms underlying arrhythmia in the hereditary channelopathies has been particularly marked Our growing knowledge of the fundamental mechanisms underlying SAD has so far failed to spur substantial developments in clinical practice Despite a large body of work in both humans and animals it remains impossible to confidently identify those at high risk of SAD making pre emptive therapy a challenge What is more with the thankful exception of the implantable cardioverter defibrillators and pharmacological agents in very specific situations there has been depressingly little progress in finding new and effective therapies This Research Topic aims to go some way towards bridging the gap between advances in basic science and the development and delivery of new therapies It brings together original research contributions and review articles from key opinion leaders in the field focusing on the direct clinical implications of the basic science research now and in the future Contemporary Strategy Analysis Robert M.
