Degree Spectra of Relations on a Cone Matthew Harrison-Trainor,2018-05-29 Let \mathcal{A} be a mathematical structure with an additional relation R The author is interested in the degree spectrum of R either among computable copies of \mathcal{A} when \mathcal{A} is a natural structure or to make this rigorous among copies of \mathcal{A} which are computable in a large degree d He introduces the partial order of degree spectra on a cone and begin the study of these objects Using a result of Harizanov that assuming an effectiveness condition on \mathcal{A} and R if R is not intrinsically computable then its degree spectrum contains all c.e. degrees the author shows that there is a minimal non trivial degree spectrum on a cone consisting of the c.e. degrees

Sand, Snow, and Stardust Gretchen Heefner,2025-05-05 A vivid tour of US military efforts to understand survive and command harsh environments worldwide and beyond Deserts the Arctic outer space these extreme environments are often seen as inhospitable places at the edges of our maps But from the 1940s through the 1960s spurred by the diverse and unfamiliar regions the US military had navigated during World War II the United States defense establishment took a keen interest in these places dispatching troops to the Aleutian Islands North Africa the South Pacific and beyond To preserve the country's status as a superpower after the war to pave runways and build bridges engineers had to understand and then conquer dunes permafrost and even the surface of the moon Sand Snow and Stardust explores how the US military generated a new understanding of these environments and attempted to master them intending to cement America's planetary power Operating in these regions depended as much on scientific and cultural knowledge as on military expertise and technology From General George S Patton learning the hard way that the desert is not always hot to the challenges of constructing a scientific research base under the Arctic ice to the sheer implausibility of modeling Martian environments on Earth Gretchen Heefner takes us on a wry expedition into the extremes and introduces us to the people who have shaped our insight into these extraordinary environments Even decades after the first manned space flight plans for human space exploration and extraplanetary colonization are still based on what we know about stark habitats on Earth An entertaining survey of the relationship between environmental history and military might Sand Snow and Stardust also serves as a warning about the further transformation of the planet whether through desertification melting ice caps or attempts to escape it entirely
