- Piaget: Swiss psychologist who created theory of cognitive development to explain the processes by which humans come to perceive, organize knowledge, define problems and understand the world. According to this theory, human cognitive development is the product of a continuous, reliable pattern or plan of interaction with the environment. Humans are a software. Software is a goal-oriented strategies that helps the person perform some intended result. These software are continuous (consisting in theory and early skills, in which software and motor programs are generated) and cognitive (based on experience and on mental images, reflecting the person's ability to develop the use of abstract reasoning and symbolism).
- Erkman: German psychologist who worked in human psychosexual development theory. Created 8 stages of life.
- Sigmund Freud: Proposed psychosexual stages, calling it both masculine and feminine. He was, himself, therapy proposed that were important feelings of identity, because they cannot give him his childhood.
- Western & Eastern: Created another basic categories, which the same on psychosexual stages, began with non-specific teaching only, made to genital teaching. Used to to measure pleasure without pressure to perform early, or achieve orgasm.
- John Turk and Virginia Mahoney: started functional theory. They attributed to the school of life as PTA and influenced the work of Marshall Meyer & Marie. This school was presented as contrast to the dogmatic school of thought (which was previously psychoanalytic).
- Anna Freud: worked on psychology
- Willy Reich: founder of gestalt theory
- Maliken: founder of object relations theory
- Carl Rogers: founder of client-centered theory
- Freud & Mahoney & Garvin: founder of systems theory
- Adrianne: "Father of family therapy." He particularly used a psychoanalytic approach, insight oriented.
- Kate & Whitaker: Communication in family therapy. Mainly experiential (through experiential communication and interaction, awareness of their and how leading to personal accountability, and increasing patterns of interaction. They focused on communication problems, double bind, faulty communication is caused by low self-esteem, and the presence of a perpetrator that is the father. Whitaker mostly operated with awareness and discussed the transference phenomenon. Initially communication family therapy acknowledged that transference factors can provide a foundation for family problems, but they did not try to interpret these factors. Family therapy after founded the emphasis on communication patterning and often referred to as the "White Hat" group.
