Tomorrow Is the Question Benjamin Piekut, 2014-04-09 In recent decades experimental music has flourished outside of European and American concert halls The principles of indeterminacy improvisation nonmusical sound and noise pioneered in concert and on paper by the likes of Henry Cowell John Cage and Ornette Coleman can now be found in all kinds of new places activist films rock recordings and public radio broadcasts not to mention in avant garde movements around the world The contributors to Tomorrow Is the Question explore these previously unexamined corners of experimental music history considering topics such as Sonic Youth Julius Eastman the Downtown New York pop avant garde of the 1970s Fluxus composer Benjamin Patterson Tokyo's Music group aka Group Ongaku the Balinese avant garde the Leicester school of British experimentalists Cuba's Grupo de Experimentación Sonora del ICAIC Pauline Oliveros's score for the feminist documentary Maquilapolis NPR's 1980s RadioVisions and the philosophy of experimental musical aesthetics Taken together this menagerie of people places and things makes up an actually existing experimentalism that is always partial compromised and invented in its local and particular formations in other words these individual cases suggest that experimentalism has been a far more variegated set of practices and discourses than previously recognized Asking new questions leads to researching new materials new individuals and new contexts and eventually to the new critical paradigms that are necessary to interpret these materials Gathering contributions from historical musicology ethnomusicology history philosophy and cultural studies Tomorrow Is the Question generates future research directions in experimental music studies by way of a productive inquiry that sustains and elaborates critical conversations

Migrant Longing Miroslava Chávez-García, 2018-03-22 Drawing upon a personal collection of more than 300 letters exchanged between her parents and other family members across the U S Mexico border Miroslava Chávez-García recreates and gives meaning to the hope fear and longing migrants experienced in their everyday lives both here and there aquí y allá As private sources of communication hidden from public consumption and historical research the letters provide a rare glimpse into the deeply emotional personal and social lives of ordinary Mexican men and women as recorded in their immediate firsthand accounts Chávez-García demonstrates not only how migrants struggled to maintain their sense of humanity in el norte but also how those remaining at home made sense of their changing identities in response to the loss of loved ones who sometimes left for weeks months or years at a time or simply never returned With this richly detailed account ranging from the Mexican Revolution of the 1910s to the emergence of Silicon Valley in the late 1960s Chávez-García opens a new window onto the social economic political and cultural developments of

Women and Change at the U.S.-Mexico Border Doreen J. Mattingly, Ellen R. Hansen, 2006 With the emergence of the North American Free Trade Agreement NAFTA the curtailment of welfare programs and more aggressive efforts by the United States to seal the border against undocumented migrants the prospect of seeking a livelihood particularly for women has become more tenuous during the twenty first century In the face of the ironic juxtaposition of free trade and limited mobility this book takes a new look at women on both sides of the border to portray them as active participants in the changing structures of life often engaged in political struggles The contributions including several chapters by Mexican as well as U S scholars focus on issues related to migration both short and long term empowerment reflecting shifts in women s consciousness in the workplace and political and social activism in border communities Mattingly and Hansen offer fresh perspectives on the material reality of women s daily lives in this historically rich region America, History and Life ,2004 Article abstracts and citations of reviews and dissertations covering the United States and Canada Border Texts Núria Vilanova, 2007 McBorderland USA Jim Dougherty, 1990 Reference Library of Hispanic America Nicolás Kanellos, 1993 A comprehensive survey of Hispanics in America including their history immigration laws education business language religion literature art music and prominent people Been there and back to nowhere Ursula Biemann, 2000 This book presents cultural practices that take a gendered look at minority identities in the media as well as in post urban zones such as the ones that have developed on the U S Mexican border in Istanbul and in post Social countries Journal of Borderlands Studies ,2003 Twin Plant News ,1999
