March Cluster Paper For Geography 23:

Clusters in Urban and Regional Development Andrew Cumbers, Danny McKinnon, 2013-09-13 Going beyond the celebrated hot spots of economic development this book draws upon evidence from a broader range of cities and regions to help fill some important gaps in our knowledge of how clusters operate within the contemporary global economy This book was previously published as a special issue of the journal Urban Studies

Knowledge and the Economy Peter Meusburger, Johannes Glückler, Martina Meskioui, 2013-05-23 The broad spectrum of topics surrounding what is termed the knowledge economy has attracted increasing attention from the scientific community in recent years The nature of knowledge intensive industries the spatiality of knowledge the role of proximity and distance in generating functional knowledge the transfer of knowledge via networks and the complex interplay between knowledge location and economic development are all live academic issues This book the fifth volume in Springer's Knowledge and Space series focuses on the last of these the multiple relationships between knowledge the economy and space It reflects the conceptual and methodological multidisciplinary emerging from this scholarship yet where there has up to now been a notable lack of communication between some of the contributing disciplines resulting in lexical and other confusions this volume brings concord and to foster interdisciplinarity These complications have been especially evident in our understanding of the spatiality of knowledge the part that spatial contexts play in knowledge creation and diffusion and the relevance of face to face contacts all of which are addressed in these pages The material here is grouped into four sections knowledge creation and economy knowledge and economic development knowledge and networks and knowledge and clusters It assembles new concepts and original empirical research from geography economics sociology international business relations and management The book addresses a varied audience interested in the historical and spatial foundations of the knowledge economy and is intended to bridge some of the gaps between the differing approaches to research on knowledge the economy and space

Papers and Proceedings of Applied Geography Conferences, 1990

Regional Competitiveness Ron Martin, Michael Kitson, Peter Tyler, 2012-11-12 There is now a wide spread interest in regions as a key focus in the organization and governance of economic growth and wealth creation This important book considers the factors that influence and shape the competitive performance of regions This is not just an issue of academic interest and debate but also of increasing policy deliberation and action However as the readings in this book make clear the very idea of regional competitiveness is itself complex and contentious Many academics and policy makers have used the concept without fully considering what is meant by the term and how it can be measured Policy formulation has tended to rush ahead of understanding and analysis and the purpose of this book is to close this important gap in understanding This book was previously published as a special issue of Regional Studies

Economic Development and Inequality in China Hong Yu, 2017-09-29 The conventional belief that all regions have equally benefited from China's remarkable development over the last three decades is subjected to criticism in this book as Hong Yu systematically analyses the issue of regional inequality during the post 1978 period using the case of Guangdong Guangdong is one of the key industrial centres and economic powerhouses in China and as a pioneer province instigating economic reform as China opened up to the world it offers an ideal focus upon which to question and enrich the Western theories of economic geography and regional disparity Based on field research analysis of geographic characteristics and regression models this book illustrates how Guangdong s impressive development record has been marred by its rising regional disparity investigates the main causes of this disparity and draws conclusions regarding the lessons China can learn from it Economic Development and Inequality in China will be of interest to students and scholars of Chinese economics Chinese regional studies economic geography and China Studies Hong Yu is a Visiting Research Fellow at the National University of Singapore His research interests lie in the field of regional economy He is the author of a chapter on China s two delta regions in the book China and The Global Economic Crisis Introduction to Regional Economic Development Mustafa Dinc,2015-12-18 This is a relatively simple and easy to read introduction of major regional and local economic development theories their theoretical evolution and other relevant topics such as governance institutions and local leadership within the globalization context It also discusses some basic analytical tools and provides a template for them in an easy to use MS Excel spreadsheet application It introduces conflict management procedures into regional development process and provides a regional decision support framework Cartography and Geographic Information Science,2005 The Town Planning Review Patrick Abercrombie,1969 Digital Deliverance Judson C. Edwards,2009-08-16 This book offers a practice based approach to developing strategies for utilizing broadband telecommunications for rural economic development Edwards addresses four key questions in the publication 1 How important is broadband telecommunications in the achievement of rural economic development success in the information based economy 2 What are the critical factors in assessing the potential of rural communities to utilize broadband telecommunications for economic development 3 What policy trends are proposed to assist communities in the advancement of telecommunication based economic development strategies And 4 How can local leadership assist in the implementation of broadband for economic development success By answering these important questions Edwards provides the reader a step by step practice oriented framework for implementing a rural economic development planning strategy through the implementation of broadband telecommunications Broadband connectivity is vital for rural communities to be actively engaged in the global information economy but being connected is not enough Utilization of technology is required if communities want to increase their potential for economic development success Population Index Bibliography: 1975-1977: Author index, subject index, geographical index Princeton University.
