Islamic Law And The Challenges Of Modernity:

Islamic Law and the Challenges of Modernity Yvonne Yazbeck Haddad, Barbara Freyer Stowasser, 2004-03 Since Europeans first colonized Arab lands in the 19th century they have been pressing to have the area's indigenous laws and legal systems accord with Western models. Although most Arab states now have national codes of law that reflect Western influence, fierce internal struggles continue over how to interpret Islamic law particularly in the areas of gender and family. From different geographical and ideological points across the contemporary Arab world, Haddad and Stowasser demonstrate the range of views on just what Islam's legal heritage in the region should be. For either law or religion classes, Islamic Law and the Challenges of Modernity provides the broad historical overview and particular cases needed to understand this contentious issue.

Wahhābī Islam Facing the Challenges of Modernity Muhammad Al-Atawneh, 2010-06-14 This book focuses on the history and work of the Saudi D r al Ift one of the most central modern Islamic official religious institutions. The study was undertaken from two perspectives: 1. D r al Ift creation power structure functions and the sociopolitical environment in which it operates and 2 The actual work of this institution mainly the mechanisms by which modern Saudi state muftis cope with clashes between Wahh b idealism and the reality of an evolving society This is a critical work which updates the readers grasp of contemporary law and society in the modern Saudi state in particular and in Islamic jurisprudence in general

Modernity and the General Philosophy of Sulaiman Rifai, 2018-08-20 How does Islamic law respond to social changes This has been one of the challenging questions in Islamic legal history Muslim legal theorists have been debating this since the formative period of the Islamic legal thought The sources of Islamic law are limited in certain scriptural texts historical legal precedents and supplementary legal sources Yet human challenges and problems are unlimited So how do limited numbers of divine texts and prophetic traditions provide viable solutions for ever increasing problems of the Muslim community in this modern digital world This book explores the intriguing relationship between social and legal changes in Islamic law Modern technological and digital revolutions have brought about unprecedented social changes in all walks of human life Classical Muslim jurists devised the doctrines of the general philosophy of Islamic law to relate Islamic law to changing social realities of their historical contexts Classical legal theorists created many legal principles theories and concepts to demonstrate the flexible and adaptable nature of Islamic law to different social conditions Yet classical Islamic legal thoughts are not always viable and applicable to modern social conditions For this reason many modern Muslim scholars argue that the legal reform is very much important today to meet the challenges of modern time Muslim scholars seek solutions for the problems of the Muslim community in the historical precedents of past the Muslim intellectual heritage without appreciating all these modern changes Many of them are experts on Islamic studies and yet they find it difficult to relate what they learn to the modern social condition of this complicated world The science of the general philosophy of Islamic law provides some dynamic mechanisms to relate Islamic teaching to modern social conditions without distorting or twisting the pure teaching of the divine message It bridges the gap between the historical legacies of the Islamic past and the scientific development of the modern world It relates the past legacy of Islamic heritage with the present day realities of the modern world It directs Muslim jurists to understand modern social conditions in a holistic approach considering both the literal and contextual meaning of the text Therefore many others argue that the science of the legal philosophy of Islamic law can be developed as a dynamic research methodology and developmental policy strategy This book explores the classical and modern ideas of the general philosophy of Islamic law to understand the dynamic nature of Islamic law to adapt to the modern social conditions This book emphasises the importance of understanding texts context and social realities When we apply the divine texts into modern context we should time and space factors Moreover the social realities of modern societies otherwise the application of divine texts will not be always viable in this modern world The literal school of Islamic legal thought does not take these factors into consideration when they try to apply the divine texts to modern conditions The challenges of modernity are immense in all field of human sciences We see a lot of changes in politics geopolitics finance business sections and many other fields of education and human sciences It is expected that the digital technology and artificial intelligence will bring dramatic changes into human life by 2040 The Muslim world must make some legal changes to meet the challenges of the social changes The basic argument of this book is that some aspects of classical legal thoughts are viable today in our modern context and legal changes are unavoidable The book explores different areas of modern development in human sciences to highlight the importance of legal changes in accordance with social changes and it explores the adaptable nature of Islamic law to all places and in ages without distorting the essence

Modernity and the General Philosophy of Islamic Law. S L M Rifai, 2019-09-12 Social changes demand the legal changes in Islamic law Some theoretical and pragmatic arguments by DR SLM RIFAI How does Islamic law respond to social changes This has been one of the challenging questions in Islamic legal history Muslim legal theorists have been debating this since the formative period of the Islamic legal thought The sources of Islamic law are limited in certain scriptural texts historical legal precedents and supplementary legal sources Yet human challenges and problems are unlimited So how do limited numbers of divine texts and prophetic traditions provide viable solutions for ever increasing problems of the Muslim community in this modern digital world This book explores the intriguing relationship between social and legal changes in Islamic law Modern technological and digital revolutions have brought about unprecedented social changes in all walks of human life Classical Muslim jurists devised the doctrines of the general philosophy of Islamic law to relate Islamic law to changing social realities of their historical contexts Classical legal theorists created many legal principles theories and concepts to demonstrate the flexible and adaptable nature of Islamic law to different social conditions Yet classical Islamic legal thoughts are not always viable and applicable to modern social conditions For this reason many modern Muslim scholars argue that the legal reform is very much important today to meet the challenges of modern time Muslim scholars seek solutions for the problems of the Muslim community in the historical precedents of past the Muslim intellectual heritage without appreciating all these modern changes Many of them are experts on Islamic studies and yet they find it difficult to relate what they learn to the modern social condition of this complicated world The science of the general philosophy of Islamic law provides some dynamic mechanisms to relate Islamic teaching to modern social conditions without distorting or twisting the pure teaching of the divine message It bridges the gap between the historical legacies of the Islamic past and the scientific development of the modern world It relates the past legacy of Islamic heritage with the present day realities of the modern world It directs Muslim jurists to understand modern social conditions in a holistic approach considering both the literal and contextual meaning of the text Therefore many others argue that the science of the legal philosophy of Islamic law can be developed as a dynamic research methodology and developmental policy strategy This book explores the classical and modern ideas of the general philosophy of Islamic law to understand the dynamic nature of Islamic law to adapt to the modern social conditions This thesis emphasises the importance of understanding texts context and social realities When we apply the divine texts into modern context we should take the time and space factors into account Moreover the social realities of modern societies otherwise the application of divine texts will not be always viable in this modern world The literal school of Islamic legal thought does not take these factors into consideration when they try to apply the divine texts to modern conditions The challenges of modernity are immense in all field of human sciences We see a lot of changes in politics geopolitics finance business sections and many other fields of education and human sciences It is expected that the digital technology and artificial intelligence will bring dramatic changes into human life by 2040 The Muslim world must make some legal changes to meet the challenges of the social changes The basic argument of this paper is that some aspects of classical legal thoughts are viable today in our modern context and legal changes are unavoidable This study explores different areas of modern development in human sciences to highlight the importance of legal changes

Modern Debates on Prophecy and Prophethood in Islam Mahsheed Ansari,2023-07-17 While prophethood is the backbone of the Islamic tradition and an uncompromised tenet of faith the impact of modernity with its ambivalent status afforded to the prophet and institution of prophethood shook many Muslim scholars Through analysis of these modern debates on prophethood in Islam this book situates Muhammad Iqbal s 1877 1938 and Said Nursi s 1877 1960 discourses within it and assesses their implications on the modern period This book introduces the what who and how of the prophets in the Islamic tradition It unveils the rich Islamic literature of both the classical and modern periods and analyses the construction of their philosophies and theologies Concise in both historical and textual analyses this book makes an important contribution to our understanding of contemporary debates on prophecy and prophethood in Islam and will be of great interest to postgraduate students and researchers of Islam religious studies medieval studies and contemporary studies of Islam and religion

Islam and the Challenge of Human Rights Abdulaziz Sachedina,2009-11-05 In 1948 the General Assembly of the United Nations adopted and proclaimed the International Declaration of Human Rights a document designed to hold both individuals and nations accountable for their treatment of fellow human beings regardless of religious or cultural affiliations Since then the compatibility of Islam and human rights has emerged as a particularly thorny issue of international concern and has been addressed by Muslim rulers conservatives and extremists as well as Western analysts and policymakers all have commonly agreed that Islamic theology and human rights cannot coexist Abdulaziz Sachedina rejects this informal consensus arguing instead for the essential compatibility of Islam and human rights He offers a balanced and incisive critique of Western experts who have ignored or underplayed the importance of religion to the development of human rights contending that any theory of universal rights necessarily emerges out of particular cultural contexts At the same time he re examines the juridical and theological traditions that form the basis of conservative Muslim objections to human rights arguing that Islam like any culture is open to development and change Finally and most importantly Sachedina articulates a fresh position that argues for a correspondence between Islam and secular notions of human rights
