Anthropology, Colonial Policy and the Decline of French Empire in Africa Douglas W. Leonard,2019-12-26

Conceived as both a vehicle to national prestige and as a civilizing mission the second French colonial empire 1830 1962 challenged soldiers scholars and administrators to understand societies radically different from their own The resultant networks of anthropological inquiry however did not have this effect Rather they opened pathways to political and intellectual independence framed in the language of social science and in the process upended the colonial political system and reshaped the nature of human inquiry in France While still unequal French colonial rule in Africa revealed the durability and strength of non European modes of thought In this influential new study historian Douglas W Leonard examines the political and intellectual repercussions of French efforts to understand and to dominate colonial Africa through the use of anthropology From General Louis Faidherbe in the 1840s to politician Jacques Soustelle and sociologist Pierre Bourdieu in the 1950s these French thinkers sowed the seeds of colonial destruction The Military and Colonial Destruction of the Roman Landscape of North Africa, 1830-1900 Michael Greenhalgh,2014-05-08 The French invaded Algeria in 1830 and found a landscape rich in Roman remains which they proceeded to re use to support the constructions such as fortresses barracks and hospitals needed to fight the natives who continued to object to their presence and to house the various colonisation projects with which they intended to solidify their hold on the country and to make it both modern and profitable Arabs and Berbers had occasionally made use of the ruins but it was still a Roman and Early Christian landscape when the French arrived In the space of two generations this was destroyed just as were many ancient remains in France in part because real architecture was Greek not Roman Climatology of West Africa Derek F Hayward,Julius
