in East Jerusalem and some international actors advocate special political classification for the city or specific Muslim and Christian holy sites Unrest and violence in Jerusalem have increased in the fall of 2014 with some ripple effects in the West Bank and in Arab communities in Israel Although Israel withdrew its permanent military presence and its settlers from the Gaza Strip in 2005 it still controls most access points and legal commerce to and from Gaza The territory presents complicated security and political challenges for Israel in particular following a summer 2014 conflict involving Israel and Hamas

Foreign Aid in the Middle East Beáta Paragi, 2019-02-28 What do we mean by gifts in International Relations Can foreign aid be conceptualized as a gift Most foreign aid transactions are unilateral and financially unreciprocated yet donors expect to benefit from them Previous research dealing with foreign aid has analyzed the main donor motives and interests in providing financial support This book offers an in depth analysis of the invisible political or social exchange taking place between recipient countries and donors when a grant agreement is signed Focusing on Egypt Jordan Palestine and Israel the main beneficiaries of Western foreign aid the book uses gift theories and theories of social exchange to show how international social bonds are shaped by foreign aid and in what ways recipient countries are obliged to return the gift they receive Foreign aid is a means of buying stability or democracy in the region but Beata Paragi is interested here to understand the actual feasibility of Western assistance Looking at the context of the Arab Spring the book examines how aid impacts on a recipient country s domestic political events such as war the quest for self determination the struggle against occupation and the fight for dignity An original contribution to Middle East Studies and International Relations the research presents an alternative interpretation of foreign aid and show how external funds interact with local developments and realities
