Islam S Promise A Novel:

Islam and the West African Novel Ahmed S. Bangura, 2000 Extending Edward Said's study of the Orientalist tradition in Western scholarship Bangura traces the origins of contemporary misunderstandings of African Islam to the discourse of colonial literature Western critics and writers he observes typically without access to Islam except through the colonialist tradition have perpetuated unfounded politically motivated themes Book Review Digest, 1916 Islamic Finance in Eurasia M. K. Hassan, Paolo Biancone, Aishath Muneeza, 2024-01-18 Providing a comprehensive account of the progress potential and challenges facing Islamic finance in Eurasia this prescient book explores Islamic finance's history and development across the Asian and European continents and argues that in order for this market to continue to prosper innovation and adaptation is a necessity Die Welt des Islams, 2008 The Bookseller and the Stationery Trades' Journal, 1926 The presentation of the Iranian woman. A critical reflection of Azar Nafisi's novel "Reading Lolita in Tehran" (2004) and Azadeh Moaveni's "Lipstick Jihad" (2005) Matthias Dickert, 2016-08-19 Scientific Essay from the year 2016 in the subject Literature Middle East language English abstract Azadeh Moaveni's novel Lipstick Jihad 2005 is a typical novel of female Muslim writers disposing of a Muslim and Western background This double insight into two seemingly opposing worlds enables author and reader alike to get a deeper insight into Muslim characters who are often torn between these two extremes which many Muslim authors describe as a personal dilemma in form of a jihad Jihad here is used in its basic meaning which corresponds to a personal struggle based on a Muslim background here the Iranian diasporic situation in the USA which is accompanied by the nostalgia for and belonging to Iran as a homeland The hybrid which is a result from this and which is so typical for Muslim writing of the second generation in general is also reflected in Reading Lolita in Tehran 2004 the second novel analysed here This hybrid condition is strongly reflected in the personal cultural and religious odyssey most Muslim characters experience This especially goes for women since they are still portrayed in their inferior role The common basis of both novels can therefore be seen in the influence of the Iranian setting in general and the role of the Iranian Revolution and the emerging Iranian Republic in particular which both strongly shaped this nation and her inhabitants while also throwing light on the mostly difficult life in Iran It is also this specific situation of Iran which many female authors use as a setting which disposes of a dramatic background which is used as an underlying dramatic element for the narration as such Dual Diaspora Alex Moshkin, 2025-09-12 Since the collapse of the Soviet Union nearly one million Russian speaking Jews have settled in Israel reshaping its cultural social and political fabric This influx has sparked a complex dialogue about the intersection of post Soviet and Jewish identities in the Israeli context Dual Diaspora offers a groundbreaking exploration of the cultural contributions of Russian speaking immigrants to Israel over the past thirty years Through the lenses of literature cinema and visual art Alex Moshkin investigates how immigrants reconcile their Soviet past with their Israeli present and what role the Russian language central to the identity of Soviet Jews in the second half of the twentieth century plays today Highlighting works in both Russian and Hebrew Moshkin describes how authors artists and filmmakers navigate their dual identities and engage with Jewish history religious life and cosmopolitan ideals while confronting the traumas of displacement and immigration Expanding the study of contemporary Israeli life beyond its Hebrew centric narratives Dual Diaspora sheds light on a vibrant and overlooked cultural scene It not only deepens our understanding of Russian speaking Jews in Israel but also enriches a broader conversation about hybrid identities in an increasingly globalized world
