To remove the palming sideplate, loosen the thumb screw on the gear sidecover counter-clockwise and twist the palming side-cover in a downward direction.

Reel Care and Lubrication

Your new Carbonlite reel is designed to provide years of dependable service. But like any other precision machine, periodic cleaning and maintenance is required for consistent peak performance.

Reels made today require both a lightweight oil and grease. Oil and grease should be used sparingly; too much can have a negative impact on reel performance. There are lightweight oils and greases made specifically for fishing reels, such as Bass Pro Shops® XPS® oil and grease that can be found at BassPro.com.

As a rule of thumb, oils should be used to lubricate any moving part on the reel, e.g. ball bearings, bushings, handle pins, bail springs, etc. Grease should be used on lubricate the main drive gear and pinion gear.

We do not recommend using any multipurpose oils. Many of these oils have properties that will attract dirt and cause the reel to malfunction. They may cause excessive wear and reduce the life of the reel.

After each trip, the reel should be checked for dirt or sand. If it has been exposed to saltwater, the spool should be removed and the entire reel rinsed in freshwater. Dry with a soft cloth and lubricate the reel as described above.
