New Finance Capital Augusto Luis Alcorta,1990 The thesis develops the concept of New Finance Capital NFC and defines it as system of related industrial commercial and banking capital Affiliates or parts operate in the interest of the whole and as a result obtain systemic gains or synergies unavailable to individual capitals The achievement of monopoly power in individual industries and the strengthening of overall financial capacity of affiliates are both key elements in the New Finance Capital s strategy The research then proceeds to operationalise the NFC into that of financial groups and identifies 27 such groupings in the Peruvian economy These business groupings are mostly controlled by single families and have as members 40% of the largest private domestic firms and all private financial institutions They account for around 13% of GDP Although they invest in all sectors they have a significant share of their capital in the manufacturing industry In addressing the issue of the systemic gains of these groupings the thesis identifies the increase in the capacity of finance a reduction in the capital required to control companies and a saving in the amount of taxes paid as the three most important financial synergies they obtain Member banks and insurance companies are crucial to the achievement of these synergies They allocate a significant proportion of loans to member firms and they are prepared to take considerable risks for affiliates The study shows that financial groups locate some member firms in concentrated and vertically integrated industries which allow for the appropriation of monopoly profits Monopoly profits provide the additional financing required by members to invest and diversify into other sectors One important effect of systemic management of finance and the obtention of monopoly profits is that the financial structure of members has a larger proportion of debt relative to equity than non group firms The thesis concludes with the observation that Peruvian financial groups have not performed the developmental role of similar organisational forms in countries like Japan or Korea Although having the financial knowledge and power to diversify into high technology industries Peruvian groups remain in the less dynamic and traditional sectors Some of the reasons for such impact are then discussed      The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,1979      Delusions of a popular paradigm Eskor Toyo,2001      Subject Catalog Library of Congress,      Subject Catalog, 1976 Library of Congress,1976

Rittaler,1989 After roughly 15 years of merger control application in the Federal Republic of Germany a reassessment of the significance of this instrument of antitrust policy seems necessary This is particularly so in view of the reorientation of merger control policy in the United States which has been in its original version the model for the German merger control system Concerning merger control the reorientation is characterized by the notion that the structure conduct performance paradigm which has dominated U S antitrust for a quarter of a century is imprecise or even incorrect and that bigness in business does not necessarily mean badness This makes the fundamental question arise of whether the German merger control system is still up to date in terms of the underlying market theory and of whether the German Act Against Restraints of Competition needs a reorientation towards aspects of market conduct and performance instead of market structure by means of a Fifth Amendment      Journal of Rural Economics and Development ,2005
