Rainforest Calling

A 'green conversation' started at the webcams a few years ago. We're not actually sure what a green conversation is, or a red or yellow or pink conversation either! And when Mrs Curtis logged on with her laptop, she showed me that we can move the webcams with the arrows on the keyboard. If I want to move left or right, up or down, I just press the arrows. I can even move from camera to camera so that I can explore each layer of the rainforest! Mrs Curtis also said that the Amazon rainforest is over 3,000 miles away from our school, yet I can still move the lens in any direction I want. Technology is amazing!

I'd love to spend all my time looking for the monkeys, or even a hyacinth! My dad says scientists think that there are still over five million animal species waiting to be discovered in the world and most of those probably live in the rainforest. He wants me to keep my eyes peeled for a hyacinth. He says, 'That'll be like winning the lottery!'

My dad thinks that he knows lots about the rainforest. I think that he might have read the same books as Mrs Curtis because they both said that lots of what we all love for granted comes from the rainforest. Those beans that people use to make chocolate come from there, and pineapples, too, plus the paper that goes into pretty biscuits... even rubber for the soles of my trainers.

Milla says that her uncle has an important job at the city museum and he reasons that more than twenty-five percent that's a quarter of all medicines use plants from the rainforest. So if you stay up too late and have a headache, or get an tummy ache after you've eaten one of your dad's home-made curries, the medicine that you are given could be made from rainforest plants. How amazing is that!

What I'd really like to find, though, is a new kind of flower maybe one of those beautiful orchids. When you find something new like that, those clever people you see on the documentary channels sometimes let you name them. I'd call mine the Wilkins orchid, after Grandma Wilkins. That would make her feel very important, and she tells me that she's always wanted to be a VIP.
