Playing for Life Louise Manon Bourgault, 2003 Playing for Life is a survey of African performance that uses the focal lens of AIDS performances to examine performance more generally on the African continent. The aim of Playing for Life is threefold. First, the work provides an introduction to the study of Africa through performance suitable for undergraduate students. Second, it supplies a sampling of Africa's rich performative resources. And third, it shows how Africans are working to harness the energy of performance to help solve the most terrible of contemporary problems: the AIDS pandemic. This book focuses chiefly on the AIDS epidemic in two African countries, South Africa and Mali. The choice is reflective of a need to provide at least two different case views of African performance and African performative response to the AIDS crisis. The countries so divergent from one another by most social indicators: economy, religion, geography, and climate; colonial history, pre-colonial history, and nature and severity of the AIDS epidemic offer excellent contrasts from one another, making them ideal selections for this work. In addition to the maps, charts, and photographs sprinkled throughout the volume, the chapters have been illustrated with audio and video clips featured on the accompanying compact disc (CD). Besides the CD which comes with the book, it is possible to purchase a 20-minute documentary, AIDS and the Arts in Africa, a visual summary of Playing for Life produced by Louise Bourgault. Royalties from Playing for Life will be donated to support projects for AIDS orphans in South Africa and Mali. Louise Bourgault's book is a timely addition to a growing body of literature that highlights Africans' efforts to manage the AIDS crisis on the continent. Her style is clear and engaging, and she includes a set of review questions at the end of each chapter to stimulate further discussion. The CD is an excellent addition to the text. Research in African Literatures 2005

Anarchy of the Body Kuro DalaiJee, 2023-03-20 In Anarchy of the Body, art historian Kuro DalaiJee sheds light on vital pieces of postwar Japanese avant-garde history by contextualizing the social, cultural, and political trajectories of artists across Japan in the 1960s. A culmination of years of research, Anarchy of the Body draws on an extensive breadth of source material to reveal how the practice of performance by individual artists and art groups during this period formed a legacy of resistance against institutionalization both within the art world and more broadly in Japanese society. This book contains 256 high-quality reproductions, including rare performance photographs not readily accessible elsewhere, as well as a comprehensive chronology. Kuro DalaiJee was awarded the 2010 Art Encouragement Prize for New Artists, criticism category, by the Minister of Education, Culture, Sports, Science, and Technology's Art Contributors. Kurokawa Noriyuki, editor; Jason M. Beckman, translation editor; Andrew Maerkele, translator; Shima Yumiko, translator; Alice Kiwako Ashiwa, editorial assistant; Daniel Gonzlez, translator; Claire Tanaka, translator; Giles Murray, translator; Jenny Preston, translator. Bonfire of the Humanities David Marc,1995-06 This volume focuses on the relationship between the rise of the multi media environment television and electronic media and the decline of the humanities in academia the changing role of print literacy and the disintegration of historical consciousness David Marc is as mad as hell about some things and he s not going to take it any longer He finds that most university humanities programs remain top heavy with embittered careerists who would rather deny the evidence than admit that with the rise and popular acceptance of mass media their most cherished interests their techniques and skills have become archaic New students are treated as if they read and write as often and for the same purposes as their counterparts before the rise of the television camera telephone and communications satellite Professors get paid Students receive diplomas And yet humanities courses are the joke of the campus In analyzing the decline of the humanities on college campuses Marc covers a wide range of issues including political correctness the growing tolerance of academic cheating and institutionalized grade inflation
