

NICK FISH SWEARING-IN

Presented by

Portland, Oregon

I am so honored today to play a part in this special ceremony for my friend Nick Fish.

Nick and I volunteered together on several big events at Portland State University celebrating and recognizing what were labeled "Urban Pioneers". The longer I worked with Nick the more I understood, I was volunteering with such a leader every time I worked beside Nick.

So appropriately (it seems to me), our newly elected Portland City Council member has asked today that I share some brief remarks on the subject of leadership.

Over many years I've read the editorials, listened to the political speeches, and heard our citizens lament the lack of leadership in Oregon and in this metropolitan area. Yet, maybe some of our whining could stand the examination of just how we view leadership.

I've taught leadership to hundreds of state and local government officials during my ten years at Harvard's Kennedy school and the Hatfield School at PSU. I have certainly found that attempting to analyze and define leadership can prove to be an elusive process.

I have gradually "invented" my own short-hand definition based on 25 years in public service. It goes like this:

"Leadership means having the self-confidence to believe you can make a difference, the passion to believe it matters, and the courage to risk it all because you believe it matters."

Leaders should not be defined simply by their popularity but by their willingness to take risks, by their ability to share credit, the strength to admit errors, and their willingness to pick themselves up and keep leading and motivating, and partnering for the broader good.

Leadership is not about quick-fixes, cleaver slogans, about dividing citizens, or about polling numbers.

Sometimes leadership in public office means telling citizens what they need to know rather than what they want to hear. Sometimes you must stand alone. But to
