United States Foreign Policy 1945-1968 Michael Wayne Santos, 2020-01-17 Between 1945 and 1968 the possibility of Mutual Assured Destruction led to a host of odd realities including the creation of an affable cartoon turtle named Bert who taught millions of school children that nuclear war was survivable if they simply learned how to duck and cover. Meanwhile fear of Communism played out against the backdrop of potential Armageddon to provide justification for a variety of covert operations involving regime change, political assassination and sometimes bizarre plot twists. United States Foreign Policy 1945-1968: The Bomb, Spies, Stories and Lies takes a fresh look at this complex, often confusing and frequently farcical period in American and world history.

Arctic Potential Rex W. Tillerson, 2015 This report was prepared in response to Secretary of Energy Ernest J. Moniz's request and provides a comprehensive study that considers research and technology opportunities to enable prudent development of U.S. Arctic offshore oil and natural gas resources. Today there is both increasing interest in the Arctic for economic opportunity and concern about the future of the culture of the Arctic peoples and the environment in the face of changing climate and increased human activity. Other nations such as Russia and China are moving forward with Arctic economic development. Facilitating exploration and development in the U.S. Arctic would enhance national economic and energy security, benefit the people of the north and the U.S. as a whole and position the U.S. to exercise global leadership. Despite these benefits, there are diverse views on how to balance this opportunity with environmental stewardship.
