

opening the door open he said to Bernard Jackson, "Are you going to the bus stop?" - "Yep", was my answer with a smile to his pointed remark of "thought, typical, if it wasn't for getting some milk from the garage I'd have beat you to there!". To this, I looked at the pair crouched on the pavement and - I could never have realised how one trip to the garage was to change my life ahead.

Wishing him luck, I pushed on to make my way round to the dam wall. No other anglers were seen to have arrived whilst I set up the rods and casts that gave me confidence on this early morning of no more than seven degrees. As was now the accustomed practice, all three rods were cast out to where the activity was known, and all went down, just right.

With the presentation now in place, I went about the pleasurable task of sorting out a cup of coffee to the thought of every chance. While had put his gear in the 'Dugout' and come back round to where I was, and we were chatting away about this 'n' that, as you do, when just before nine, the bubble on the city went spot dark, then, unusually, dropped back. Jumping off the wall, I quickly wound down to this unusual indication. All lightened once towards the gateway certainly that what was on, was a carp, and I took to placing it out in the clearing mist of this February morning.

As what was hooked got closer to the wall, all began to become of weight, deep down, yet then the mist switched, as the carp began to rise in the water. To this, my eyes were shocked by the sudden sight of an orange glow of real length that melted out of the gloom before my right vanished again.

Expectancy suddenly cranked up, and at that moment the carp appeared again, turning right under the rod tip having misjudged how close it had come to the wall. This caused it to jerkwards back along the shaft, just sitting for a few yards in front of our view. Although the worried away from me, that was enough to know - the mist just remained in recognition - W E S I D E N ?

Patience, naturally, cluttered over my cool down that its disappearance left me with the nerve-rattling certainty of 'what' was on the other end. This caused all motion to quickly slow into those lost few minutes, as unmistakably the frame, the colour, the look, the sheer beauty of this classic creature turned, rolled, and swished, to all finally come within reach of the net. Once accepted, I gained the opportunity to guide the gradient of them all into the net's folds. Now certain, it was impossible to hold the reality in, this just burst through within as the word burst from me in a monotone shout out that made all the ducks just... quack.

We both looked into the net. There it was, decide also had just been answered, and a brilliant glow of slamon centred for the righted while. I got caught put into words the splendour that this carp held, especially in her last frame. Beyond us were on hand on boat later, when we studied the specimen in a net over to the green behind the Café to take the pictures. Here, the weight was recorded at 11lbs 11oz, whereas the colours were a cold water delight for all to admire before gently returning this 'one and only' back into the venue that suited her lifestyle so well.

An event such as this was beyond what I could ever have expected, and consequently I was so keyed up that it meant sleep was impossible that night, so like a lion I returned to the swim at four on the following morning. During the day, Ray managed a common-fishing out to the buoy, whilst I just sat there, happily sitting amongst the leaves and lilies, to just think.

Over the next few weeks, very cold weather once again drew in, with day temperatures rarely warmer than minus four degrees, yet still a handful of smaller carp were caught, even though the venue was half frozen. By now, the renewal of interest had brought the pressure, and this grew to a point where the Inshore Mares and became the only area available to fish. At this, I felt it was time to move on, despite the encouraging sight of ridge hatches and popper-like hatches emerging one evening in late February.

The only remaining mention I must add is to thank whoever it was that decided to stock carp into Come Water in the first place. What a really good decision that was, as the venue is suits the species, which in turn makes the place undeniably for all of us that have fished there since. Credit to your foresight, whoever you are!
