Food, Text and Culture in the Anglophone Caribbean Sarah Lawson Welsh, 2019-07-02 How do diasporic writers negotiate their identities through and with food What tensions emerge between the local and the global between the foodways of the past and of the present How are concepts of culinary tradition and authenticity articulated in Caribbean cookery writing Drawing on a rich and varied tradition of Caribbean writings Food Text Culture in the Anglophone Caribbean shows how the creation of food and the creation of narrative are intimately linked cultural practices which can tell us much about each other Historically Caribbean writers have explored defined and re affirmed their different cultural ethnic caste class and gender identities by writing about what when and how they eat Images of feeding feasting fasting and other food rituals and practices as articulated in a range of Caribbean writings constitute a powerful force of social cohesion and cultural continuity Moreover food is often central to the question of what it means to be Caribbean especially in diasporic and globalized contexts Suitable for undergraduates postgraduates and scholars the book offers the first study of food and writing in an Anglophone Caribbean context
