Innovations in Services Marketing and Management: Strategies for Emerging Economies Goyal, Anita, 2013-10-31 Modern corporations face a variety of challenges and opportunities in the field of sustainable development Properly managing assets and maintaining effective relationships with customers are crucial considerations in successful businesses Innovations in Services Marketing and Management Strategies for Emerging Economies presents insights into marketing strategies and tactical perspectives in both large and small enterprises The chapters in this book explore case studies contemporary research and theoretical frameworks in effective business management providing students academicians researchers and managers with the resources and insight necessary to identify key trends in emerging economies and build the next generation of innovative services Hospitality, Travel, and Tourism: Concepts, Methodologies, Tools, and Applications Management Association, Information Resources, 2014-10-31 Over generations human society has woven a rich tapestry of culture art architecture and history personified in artifacts monuments and landmarks arrayed across the globe Individual communities are looking to exploit these local treasures for the benefit of the travelers who come to see them Hospitality Travel and Tourism Concepts Methodologies Tools and Applications considers the effect of cultural heritage and destinations of interest on the global economy from the viewpoints of both visitor and host This broadly focused multi volume reference will provide unique insights for travelers business leaders sightseers cultural preservationists and others interested in the unique variety of human ingenuity and innovation around the world The Patent-Competition Interface in Developing Countries Thomas K. Cheng, 2021-12-16 This book proposes an approach to the patent competition interface for developing countries It puts forward a theoretical framework after canvassing relevant policy considerations and examines the many reasons why patent protection is not essential for generating innovation incentives in developing countries These include the tendency of the patent system to overcompensate innovators the availability of other appropriation mechanisms for innovators to monetize their innovations and the lack of appropriate technological capacity in many developing countries to take advantage of the incentives generated by the patent system It also argues that developing countries with a small population need not pay heed to the impact of their patent system on the incentives of foreign innovators It then proposes a classification of developing countries into production countries technology adaptation countries and proto innovation countries and argues that dynamic efficiency considerations take on different meanings for developing countries depending on their technological capacities For the vast majority of developing countries bereft of meaningful innovation capacity foreign technology transfer is the main vehicle for technological progress The chief dynamic policy consideration for these countries is hence incentives for technology transfer instead of innovation incentives There are three main means of voluntary technology transfer importation of technological goods foreign direct investment and technology licensing Competition law regulation of patent exploitation practices interacts with these three means of technology transfer in different ways and an appropriate approach to the patent competition interface for these countries needs to take these into account Distilling all these considerations the book proposes a development stage specific approach to the patent competition interface for developing countries The approach is then applied to a number of patent exploitation practices including unilateral refusal to deal patent tying excessive pricing for pharmaceuticals reverse payment settlements and restrictive licensing practices Economics Douglas McTaggart, Christopher Charles Findlay, Michael Parkin, 2012
