Multinational Companies, Knowledge and Technology Transfer Alper Sönmez, 2013-12-18 This book provides evidence on how FDI leads to knowledge and technology transfers towards domestic firms by paying attention to the role of multinational companies The author presents a comprehensive empirical research conducted at firm level in the Turkish automotive industry Using a representative sample of face to face in depth interviews with top executives and a survey of top level managers of domestic suppliers the research analyzes the existence channels intensity and determinants and the kind of transfers that occur at both inter and intra firm level in the industry The author contends that policies aimed at attracting FDI flows should be re examined under the findings and insights of this study since it is a necessary although not sufficient condition to have an efficient absorptive capacity level and or skilled human capital stock in order to benefit from these flows This study has policy implications for the automotive industry as well as practical recommendations for the public institutions and top executives in emerging country companies and multinationals in order to conceive and implement science and technology policies in supporting the knowledge transfers

Trade Agreements at the Crossroads Susy Frankel, Meredith Lewis, 2013-11-20 The book examines trade agreements in the context of the current world economic crisis and the uncompleted World Trade Organization WTO Doha Round of trade negotiations With economies shrinking and protectionism on the rise many fear a protracted global recession This raises important questions as to what role trade agreements multilateral plurilateral and bilateral should be playing in the current climate of uncertainty and how best to plan for a more stable economic future Previous assumptions are now being questioned making this an opportune time to critically examine the WTO free trade agreements bilateral investment treaties and other international economic law instruments Furthermore participants in international agreements are concerned with emerging issues that have the potential to strengthen or weaken the global trading system including matters of treaty interpretation terms of new agreements and effects of existing provisions This book provides a timely addition to the international economic law literature as its submissions have been prepared during a time of unusual uncertainty and economic change individuals interested in international economic law will seek scholarship that recognizes the current international economic climate This book should be of interest to a wide range of academics and student researchers as well as policymakers and practitioners African Motors Joshua
