Journals Impact Factor:

The Impact Factor of Scientific and Scholarly Journals Tibor Braun, 2007 Does the Journal Impact Factor Help Make a Good Indicator of Academic Performance? Sudhanshu K. Mishra, 2010

Is journal impact factor a good measure of research merit This question has assumed a great importance after the notification of the University Grants Commission Minimum Qualifications for Appointment of Teachers and other Academic Staff in Universities and Colleges and Measures for the Maintenance of Standards in Higher Education Regulations 2009 on September 23rd 2009 Now publication of research papers articles in reputed journals has become an important factor in assessment of the academic performance of teachers in colleges and universities in India One of the measures of reputation and academic standard rank or importance of a journal is the so called Impact Factor This study makes a detailed statistical analysis of Journal Impact Factors across the disciplines It finds that if journal impact factor is used to assess the academic performance of individuals for the purpose of selection promotion etc and it is not borne in mind that due to vast differences in the nature of distribution of impact factors across the disciplines they are not justifiably comparable a below average scholar in the one discipline will rank higher and will be honored and benefitted more than another scholar in some other discipline wherein the journal impact factor is adversely skewed It may be noted that in the university departments there are specializations with low impact factor journals and other specializations with very high impact factor journals But the teachers researchers of different specializations in the departments compete with each other for promotion In this milieu the researchers with an unfortunate specialization wherein the journal impact factor is mingy or adversely skewed would receive injustice is plainly predetermined Therefore a measure such as the h index which quantifies the quality as well as productivity of an individual author scholar would be more appropriate than the journal impact factor The h index may be fine tuned and hence the g index or Tol s index may be used Nevertheless even the h index and the Tol s index would not be appropriate to the purpose of inter disciplinary or inter specialization comparisons A more informed and balanced judgment of the expert committee for selection appointment and promotion purposes will continue to be extremely important

Multidimensional Journal Evaluation Stefanie Haustein, 2012-04-26

Scientific communication depends primarily on publishing in journals The most important indicator to determine the influence of a journal is the Impact Factor Since this factor only measures the average number of citations per article in a certain time window it can be argued that it does not reflect the actual value of a periodical This book defines five dimensions which build a framework for a multidimensional method of journal evaluation The author is winner of the Eugene Garfield Doctoral Dissertation Scholarship 2011

The present study attempts to examine the numerical correlation between web ranking of electronic scientific journals and impact factor of these journals using the method of regression analysis Regression analysis allows the option of investigating and predicting the numerical relationship between website ranking of scientific journals on the World Wide Web and the value of impact factor of the journals A sample of 57 publishers with 6 272 scientific journals and 50 standalone scientific journals was analyzed during research procedure In this study two different indicators about websites classification on World Wide Web were examined separately for 57 publishers and 50 standalone journals Alexa rank and Statscrop rank The electronic databases through the internet constitute the main information resources of this study about the impact factors The general conclusion that arises is that the impact factor of electronic scientific journals illustrates a very strong positive correlation with classification of websites on the World Wide Web Furthermore it is concluded that the change of web ranking as a function of impact factor is governed by a Gaussian function or rational function with lower Pearson coefficient and presents non linearly correlation Even if there is very strong correlation between impact factor and web rank for electronic journals the prediction of impact factor from web rank is not possible and presents many divergences Educational Research James B.
