By Joseph Gornall

Part 1 – Teaching

This paper aims to critically analyse my personal pedagogical practice, with reference to personal values and experiences that have influenced the educational journey to date. This will be reinforced with educational theorists' notions, resulting in an area for further academic study.

Characteristics of an effective teacher

It is common to hear, that you can identify a good teacher (Hayes, D. 2006). This is known as tacit knowledge, as it is knowledge that is difficult to transfer to another person by means of verbal or written expression. However, there are numerous characteristics that have been suggested to reflect an effective teacher.

The main characteristics that I consider to be important, when attempting to identify an effective teacher are; passionate, open-mindedness, knowledge of students, and being an effective role model. These characteristics resonate with my education and pedagogical practice. Previous teachers of mine have possessed these characteristics, and I think that because they had these definable characteristics; I have chosen a career in education.

Passion

Passion stems from love for the job and subject that is being taught, and can develop independence in learning. Liston and Garrison (2004) stated that love influences reactions and responses to student's thoughts and emotions. Their research stated:

"When we teach, we teach with ideas and feelings. When we interact with our [pupils], we react and they respond with thoughts and emotions... Teaching is an activity that brings one's emotions and mind to bear on subject matter and on connecting [pupils] with the subject matter. (p5)" (Liston & Garrison 2004).

Liston and Garrison (2004) suggest that modern teachers are losing sight of the importance of emotion in teaching (Hayes, D. 2006). However, I don't agree that it is the teachers who are struggling to identify with student emotion, but instead the students who lack passion for education. Research has shown that there are a growing number of students who do classwork for the sole reason; it was set. Instilling passion for the subject could counter students who do work because it has been set by the teacher, as opposed to regarding it as something worth doing (Fried, 2001). Further development of subject specific careers advice could enhance their desire to learn through passion. Fried argued that students need to care about what they learn in order to develop a positive disposition toward learning (Fried 2001).

Day (2004) thinks passion in teaching is essential to all effective pedagogical practice. I think that the teachers who had the greatest positive impact on my studies instilled a passion for music. This passion was imparted through their ability to go beyond the academic curriculum and into a broader knowledge of
