Journals Impact Factor 2012:

Seeking Impact and Visibility Trotter, Henry, Kell, Catherine, 2014-06-12 African scholarly research is relatively invisible globally because even though research production on the continent is growing in absolute terms it is falling in comparative terms. In addition, traditional metrics of visibility such as the Impact Factor fail to make legible all African scholarly production. Many African universities also do not take a strategic approach to scholarly communication to broaden the reach of their scholars' work. To address this challenge, the Scholarly Communication in Africa Programme (SCAP) was established to help raise the visibility of African scholarship by mapping current research and communication practices in Southern African universities and by recommending and piloting technical and administrative innovations based on open access dissemination principles. To do this, SCAP conducted extensive research in four faculties at the Universities of Botswana, Cape Town, Mauritius, and Namibia.

Handbook of Research on Scholarly Publishing and Research Methods Wang, Viktor, 2014-12-31 For faculty to advance their careers in higher education, publishing is essential. A competitive marketplace, strict research standards, and scrupulous tenure committees are all challenges academicians face in publishing their research and achieving tenure at their institutions. The Handbook of Research on Scholarly Publishing and Research Methods assists researchers in navigating the field of scholarly publishing through a careful analysis of multidisciplinary research topics and recent trends in the industry. With its broad practical focus, this handbook is of particular use to researchers, scholars, professors, graduate students, and librarians.

Springer Handbook of Science and Technology Indicators Wolfgang Glänzel, Henk F. Moed, Ulrich Schmoch, Mike Thelwall, 2019-10-30 This handbook presents the state of the art of quantitative methods and models to understand and assess the science and technology system. Focusing on various aspects of the development and application of indicators derived from data on scholarly publications, patents, and electronic communications, the individual chapters written by leading experts discuss theoretical and methodological issues, illustrate applications, highlight their policy context and relevance, and point to future research directions. A substantial portion of the book is dedicated to detailed descriptions and analyses of data sources, presenting both traditional and advanced approaches. It addresses the main bibliographic metrics and indexes such as the journal impact factor and the h-index, as well as altmetric and webometric indicators and science mapping techniques on different levels of aggregation and in the context of their value for the assessment of research performance as well as their impact on research policy and society. It also presents and critically discusses various national research evaluation systems. Complementing the sections reflecting on the science system, the technology section includes multiple chapters that explain different aspects of patent statistics, patent classification, and database search methods to retrieve patent-related information. In addition, it examines the relevance of trademarks and standards as additional technological indicators. The Springer Handbook of Science and Technology Indicators is an invaluable resource for practitioners, scientists, and policy makers wanting a systematic and thorough analysis.
