Med/Surg HESI Practice Questions

The nurse is planning to initiate a socialization group for older residents of a long-term facility. Which information would be most useful to the nurse when planning activities for the group?

- A. The length of time each group member has resided at the nursing home.
- B. A brief description of each resident's family life.
- C. The age of each group member.
- D. The usual activity patterns of each member of the group. - answer ☒ D

An older person's level of activity is a determining factor in adjustment to aging as described by the Activity Theory of Aging. The most useful information initially would be an assessment of each individual's adjustment to the aging process.

A client has taken steroids for 12 years to help manage chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD). When making a home visit, which nursing assessment is of greatest importance to this client?

- A. pulse rate, both apically and radially.
- B. blood pressure, both standing and sitting.
- C. temperature.
- D. skin color and turgor. - answer ☒ C

Long term use of steroids by COPD clients is effective in suppressing inflammation in their airways making it easier for them to breath, but at the same time suppresses the immune system, placing the client at risk for infection, so it is very important to obtain the client's temperature.

A client who is sexually active with several partners requests an intrauterine device (IUD) as a contraceptive method. Which information should the nurse provide?

- A. Using an IUD offers no protection against sexually transmitted diseases (STD), which increase the risk for pelvic inflammatory disease (PID).
- B. Getting pregnant while using an IUD is common and is not the best contraceptive choice.
- C. Relying on an IUD may be a safer choice for monogamous partners, but a barrier method provides a better option in preventing STD transmission.
- D. Selecting a contraceptive device should consider choosing a successful method used in the past. - answer ☒ A

The use of an intrauterine device (IUD) provides the client with no protection from sexually transmitted diseases (STD).
