Mansfield Park Jane Austen,1990-09-20 The story of poor relation Fanny Price s loyal love for the son of the family is presented here with a new introduction by Marilyn Butler Mansfield Park is a study of three families the Bertrams the Crawfords and the Prices with the isolated figure of the heroine Fanny Price at its centre Fanny s quiet passivity her steadfast loyalty and love for the son of the family who regard her as the poor relation are among the qualities whose true worth is not appreciated until they are tried against the brilliant and witty Mary and Henry Crawford the unfortunate consequences of whose influence are felt by everyone Jane Austen uses Fanny s emotional involvement with the people around her to explore the social and moral values by which she and they try to order their lives First published in 1814 the text of this edition is taken from R W Chapman s Oxford edition

Mansfield Park (Illustrated and Annotated) Jane Austen,2017-11-26 This is an annotated and illustrated version of the book1 contains an updated biography of the author at the end of the book for a better understanding of the text 2 It also contains new and unique illustrations to give a better documentation and realism to the book3 This book has been checked and corrected for spelling errorsAbout thirty years ago Miss Maria Ward of Huntingdon with only seventousand pounds had the good luck to captivate Sir Thomas Bertram ofMansfield Park in the county of Northampton and to be thereby raisedto the rank of a baronet s lady with all the comforts and consequencesof an handsome house and large income All Huntingdon exclaimed on thegreatness of the match and her uncle the lawyer himself allowed herto be at least three thousand pounds short of any equitable claim to it She had two sisters to be benefited by her elevation and such of theiracquaintance as thought Miss Ward and Miss Frances quite as handsome asMiss Maria did not scruple to predict their marrying with almost equaladvantage But there certainly are not so many men of large fortune inthe world as there are pretty women to deserve them Miss Ward at theend of half a dozen years found herself obliged to be attached tothe Rev Mr Norris a friend of her brother in law with scarcely anyprivate fortune and Miss Frances fared yet worse Miss Ward s match indeed when it came to the point was not contemptible Sir Thomasbeing happily able to give his friend an income in the living of Mansfield and Mr and Mrs Norris began their career of conjugal felicity with very little less than a thousand a year But Miss Frances married in the common phrase to disoblige her family and by fixing on a lieutenant of marines without education fortune or connexions did it very thoroughly She could hardly have made a more untoward choice Sir Thomas Bertram had interest which from principle as well as pride from a general wish of doing right and a desire of seeing all that were connected with him in situations of respectability he would have been glad to exert for the advantage of Lady Bertram's sister but her husband's profession was such as no interest could reach and before he had time to devise any other method of assisting them an absolute breach between the sisters had taken place It was the natural result of the conduct of each party and such as a very imprudent marriage almost always produces To save herself from useless remonstrance Mrs Price never wrote to her family on the subject till actually married Lady Bertram who was a woman of very tranquil feelings and a temper remarkably easy and indolent would have contented herself with merely giving up her sister and thinking no more of the matter but Mrs Norris had a spirit of activity which could not be satisfied till she had written a long and angry letter to Fanny to point out the folly of her conduct and threaten her with all its possible ill consequences Mrs Price in her turn was injured and angry and an answer which comprehended each sister in its bitterness and bestowed such very disrespectful reflections on the pride of Sir Thomas as Mrs Norris could not possibly keep to herself put an end to all intercourse between them for a considerable period
