Employment and Inclusive Development Rizwanul Islam, Iyanatul Islam, 2015-02-11 Issues relating to employment and labour have once again come to the fore of global policy debates in the wake of the widespread unemployment that has accompanied the current financial crisis In the developing world there is a growing realization that productive employment promotion and social protection have to be at the core of inclusive growth and development This book supports the view that employment is a cross cutting issue shaped by macroeconomic and microeconomic policy interventions and provides a capacious framework to analyse the complexity of this global debate It covers a wide range of issues that have received insufficient attention in the discourse of development and labour economics These include the impact of macroeconomic policies on employment labour rights the development of human capabilities and employability youth employment the benefits and costs of labour market flexibility and the importance of social protection for all This important book aims at filling this gap by revisiting old debates and reconnecting them to the contemporary context combining analyses with relevant empirical evidence It will appeal to a diverse readership of academic institutions and think tanks international organizations bilateral donors working on development issues and policy makers in developing countries Global Education Reform Frank Adamson, Bjorn Astrand, Linda Darling-Hammond, 2016-03-02 With contributions from Linda Darling Hammond Michael Fullan Pasi Sahlberg and Martin Carnoy Global Education Reform is an eye opening analysis of national educational reforms and the types of high achieving systems needed to serve all students equitably The collection documents the ideologically and educationally distinctive approaches countries around the world have taken to structuring their education systems Focusing on three pairs of case studies written by internationally acclaimed experts the book provides a powerful analysis of the different ends of an ideological spectrum from strong state investments in public education to market based approaches An introductory chapter offers an overview of the theories guiding both neoliberal reforms such as those implemented in Chile Sweden and the United States with efforts to build strong and equitable public education systems as exemplified by Cuba Finland and Canada The pairs of case studies that follow examine the historical evolution of education within an individual country and compare and contrast national educational outcomes A concluding chapter dissects the educational outcomes of the differing economic and governance approaches as well as the policy implications

The Post-Mobile Society Hidenori Tomita,2016-04-14 With the spread of mobile augmented reality it has become very difficult to consider digital space and physical space independently In this book the authors identify and discuss the state Second Offline which refers to a real world environment whose elements are augmented by virtual information and one in which individuals are constantly referring to the online world Second Offline is observed across a wide range of social contexts and the relationship between superimposed digital online information and physical offline information is increasingly important This book analyses the cooperative relationship between online and offline and also examines situations where there may be a conflict between these realities Furthermore the authors discuss the possibility that in addition to influencing the physical space the digital world actually causes some of the physical world to be lost Offering a discussion of the implications of a post mobile society in which second offline is widespread this edited collection will be of interest to students scholars and practitioners working in sociology mobile media and cultural studies more generally

Adapting pedagogy to cultural context Jovina Tibenda,Matthew Jukes,Yasmin Sitabkhan,2021-09-23 This paper argues that many pedagogical reform efforts falter because they fail to consider the cultural context of teacher and student behavior Little guidance exists on how to adapt teaching practices to be compatible with culturally influenced behaviors and beliefs We present evidence from three studies conducted as part of a large basic education program in Tanzania showing that some teaching activities are less effective or not well implemented because of culturally influenced behaviors in the classroom namely children s lack of confidence to speak up in class a commitment to togetherness fairness and cooperation avoidance of embarrassment and age graded authority We propose ways teaching activities can be adapted to take these behaviors into account while still adhering to fundamental principles of effective learning including student participation in their own learning teaching at the right level and monitoring students as a basis for adjusting instruction Such adaptations may be made most effective by engaging teachers in co creation of teaching activities The Boston Globe Index ,1989 Science Citation Index ,1994 Vols for 1964 have guides and journal lists
