Education, Skills, and Technical Change Charles R. Hulten, Valerie A. Ramey, 2019-01-11 Over the past few decades US business and industry have been transformed by the advances and redundancies produced by the knowledge economy. The workplace has changed and much of the work differs from that performed by previous generations. Can human capital accumulation in the United States keep pace with the evolving demands placed on it and how can the workforce of tomorrow acquire the skills and competencies that are most in demand? Education, Skills, and Technical Change explores various facets of these questions and provides an overview of educational attainment in the United States and the channels through which labor force skills and education affect GDP growth. Contributors to this volume focus on a range of educational and training institutions and bring new data to bear on how we understand the role of college and vocational education and the size and nature of the skills gap. This work links a range of research areas such as growth accounting, skill development, higher education, and immigration and also examines how well students are being prepared for the current and future world of work.

Studies in Income and Wealth, 1937 Science Education Research and Practices in Taiwan Mei-Hung Chiu, 2015-08-04 This book highlights the development and outcomes of research on and practical experience in science education in Taiwan. Thirteen analytical chapters written by scholars and practitioners with expertise in the various areas covered by the eight MDGs are organized around the larger themes of political economy, structural issues, sustainable goals, and human development goals. They critically assess the progress that Africa has made towards the achievement of the MDGs, discuss how to accelerate that progress, and offer alternatives and recommendations in support of institutions in Africa that are engaged in promoting the achievement of sustainable development. Throughout, they examine the role of various actors including the African Union, Africa's regional economic communities, the United Nations, the European Union, etc., civil society, and other external development partners in light of their contributions, shortfalls, and viable options in shaping the continent's development agenda. Together, they provide a unique assessment from experts on the ground of whether the goals were a success and what remains to be done to achieve sustainable economic and human development in Africa. Literacy Reframed Robin J. Fogarty, Gene M. Kerns, Brian M. Pete, 2020-09-18 Despite efforts toward literacy reform, reading growth commonly flatlines in the secondary years.
