MIXED Stoichiometry Practice Review Problems

STEP 1: The following reaction will be used for this entire worksheet, please complete the balancing before going on.

STEP 2: Calculator the molar mass of each compound in the balanced reaction and write the values above the balanced reaction.

STEP 3: For aluminum sulfate, find the % of the metal in the compound. Please be sure to show your work. (Hint: WS.1 work)

Al is the only metal, S and O are nonmetals. There are no metalloids in the formula.

$$\% \text{ Al} = \frac{\text{total mass Al}}{\text{molar mass Al}_2(\text{SO}_4)_3} \times 100 \% = \frac{53.96 \text{ g}}{342.17 \text{ g}} \times 100 \% = 15.77 \%$$

STEP 4: Complete the following problems using a factor chart with units & chemicals. These problems could require ONE ratio, TWO ratios or even THREE ratios. Look for clues & use your mole map if necessary.

PROBLEMS

1) How many grams of calcium sulfate are produced from reacting 2.59 moles of aluminum sulfate?

$$2.59 \text{ mol Al}_2(\text{SO}_4)_3 \times \frac{3 \text{ mol CaSO}_4}{1 \text{ mol Al}_2(\text{SO}_4)_3} \times \frac{136.15 \text{ g CaSO}_4}{1 \text{ mol CaSO}_4} = 1057.89 \text{ g CaSO}_4$$

Armor plays a significant role in the protection of warriors. During the course of history, the introduction of new materials and improvements in the materials already used to construct armor has led to better protection and a reduction in the weight of the armor. But even with such advances in materials, the weight of the armor required to manage threats of ever-increasing destructive capability presents a huge challenge. Opportunities in Protection Materials Science and Technology for Future Army Applications explores the current theoretical and experimental understanding of the key issues surrounding protection materials, identifies the major challenges and technical gaps for developing the future generation of lightweight protection materials, and recommends a path forward for their development. It examines multiscale shockwave energy transfer mechanisms and experimental approaches for their characterization over short timescales, as well as multiscale modeling techniques to predict mechanisms for dissipating energy. The report also considers exemplary threats and design philosophy for the three key applications of armor systems: 1) personnel protection including body armor and helmets; 2) vehicle armor; and 3) transparent armor. Opportunities in Protection Materials Science and Technology for Future Army Applications recommends that the Department of Defense (DoD) establish a defense initiative for protection materials by design (PMD) with associated funding lines for basic and applied research. The PMD initiative should include a combination of computational, experimental, and materials testing, characterization, and processing research conducted by government, industry, and academia.
