

Agribusiness

Agribusiness is the business of agricultural production. The term was coined in 1957 by Goldberger and Davis to include agricultural breeding, crop production (farming and contract farming), distribution, farm machinery, processing, and seed supply, as well as marketing and retail sales. All agents of the food and fiber value chain and those institutions that influence it are part of the agribusiness system.

Within the agriculture industry, "agribusiness" is used simply as a portmanteau of agriculture and business, referring to the range of active disciplines encompassed by modern production. There are academic departments of agribusiness, agribusiness associations, agribusiness publications, forth, worldwide in the context of agricultural management in agriculture. The concept of agribusiness production and distribution described as agribusinesses. However, "agribusiness" most often emphasizes "interdependence" of these various sectors in the production chain.

Among critics of large-scale, industrialized food production, the term "agribusiness" is used negatively, synonymous
