

Why is this mathematics exercise tougher than usual? It is taking me forever to finish it even though I started at eight o' clock. Now it is already 10 o'clock and I am not even halfway through. I kept glancing at my computer at the corner of my room. It looked so inviting, making me unsure whether to continue with my homework or to just stop and go online. It took me exactly two seconds to make up my mind. I am going online!

When I sat in front of the monitor and clicked on the IRC programme, a short but unique name caught my eye, 'Neo'. I said "hi" and introduced myself. I was ecstatic when Neo answered and turned out to be a great conversationalist and we hit off

How to Write an Essay W. Webb, 2013-10-21 An excerpt from the beginning of the first chapter 1 Introduction Literary composition is the art of expressing thought or feeling effectively by words The thinking must be done first ideas and opinions must be formed before the attempt is made to put them into words the writer should know beforehand exactly what he means Hence interest and experience in a subject are essential to him What he wants as Professor Raleigh remarks is not an abundance of facts so much as the connexions between the facts It is the connexion of things with each other the ability to go from point to point which marks literature Thus the art of composition is governed by certain principles and methods which the young writer must learn and carry into practice in order to write well The aim of the following pages is to explain the most important of these principles with special reference to the writing of Essays 2 Classification of Essays Essays may be divided into four classes I Narrative Essays or Essays that consist of the narration of some event Such events may be historical or legendary occurrences or they may be stories true or imaginary or they may be biographical sketches of some well known person II Descriptive Essays or Essays that consist of the description of some place or thing These may be animals plants fruits or minerals towns ports ships and buildings of all kinds as towers temples museums bridges countries islands mountains seas rivers canals aspects of nature or lastly manufactured articles III Reflective Essays or Essays that consist of reflection upon some topic which is generally of an abstract nature These topics may be habits qualities feelings and capacities or they may be subjects of a social and political character IV Expository Essays or Essays that consist of the exposition or explanation of subjects These may be comprised under the head of first institutions industries occupations and phrase of life secondly scientific topics and thirdly literary topics
