The Memo Rachel Dodes, Lauren Mechling, 2024-06-18 The perfect summer read a novel both quick and funny Airmail A total joyride of a novel The Memo is a funny fascinating exploration of love friendship ambition and what it truly means to live a good life I loved it J Courtney Sullivan New York Times bestselling author of Commencement Maine and Friends and Strangers If you could rewrite your life story would you dare That s the question at the heart of this funny sharp and propulsive debut novel about love life and a woman finding herself and what it means to be happy and successful Do you ever feel like your life doesn t measure up to everyone else s and wonder if you just didn t get the memo helping you make the right choices Jenny Green dreads her upcoming college reunion Once top of her class the thirty five year old finds herself stuck in a life that isn t the one she expected Her promising career has flamed out literally and her deadbeat boyfriend is cheating on her again All her friends seem to have it all figured it out enjoying glittering lives and careers that she can only envy from the sidelines Did she just not get the memo they all did As it turns out she didn t When she arrives at her alma mater for the festivities she receives a text from an unlisted number Jenny Green please collect your memo Somewhere on campus a discreet female led organization provides comprehensive memos to select students a set of instructions that are a blueprint for success The first time around Jenny didn t receive hers Now she s being given the second chance she wants an opportunity to relive her life and make all the right decisions this time around But at what price Smart addictive bittersweet and ultimately triumphant The Memo will enchant readers of In Five Years and Cassandra in Reverse as well as fans of Emma Straub and Maria Semple efforts have had the cumulative effect of urging teachers to stick closely to a standard curriculum in order to raise student test scores Teachers must also interpret and attend to the needs of their students and ideally teach their students to understand mathematical concepts and processes as opposed to narrowly mastering procedural skills It may not always be possible to both follow administrative mandates about instruction and meet student needs and teachers may have to make a compromise between these two objectives In this study I examined how elementary school teachers in a particular accountability pressured school decided to teach mathematics Drawing on multiple interviews and ten classroom observations per teacher I created portraits of the mathematics instructional choices of four second grade teachers including their use of instructional materials such as textbooks I drew on an analytical framework adapted from Stein Grover and Henningsen 1996 to assess various features of the lesson in order to note the interaction between the materials and the teachers decisions about how to use them I developed a lesson signature for each teacher a visual representation of the typical organization of the teacher s lessons and how materials were used within them My findings indicated that the teachers individual goals for their teaching beliefs about their students needs and interpretations of the district s curricular mandates interacted to steer their instructional choices to very different results Two of the teachers dutifully followed the textbook while two essentially disregarded it in favor of other materials Teachers own senses of their autonomy to make curricular decisions and their support for their students autonomy in learning math emerged as important factors I suggest implications for teacher professional development and curricular materials development
