Landscape Ecology In Asian Cultures Ecological Research Monographs:

Landscape Ecology in Asian Cultures Sun-Kee Hong, Jianguo Wu, Jae-Eun Kim, Nobukazu Nakagoshi, 2010-12-25

Cultural landscapes are a product of the interactions between humans and natural settings. They are landscapes and seascapes that are shaped by human history and land use. Socioeconomic processes especially but also environmental changes and natural disturbances are some of the forces that make up landscape dynamics. To understand and manage such complex landscapes interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary approaches are necessary emphasizing the integration of natural and social sciences and considering multiple landscape functions. The spatial patterns of Asian landscapes are strongly related to human activities and their impacts. Anthropogenic patterns and processes have created numerous traditional cultural landscapes throughout the region and understanding them requires indigenous knowledge. Cultural landscape ecology from a uniquely Asian perspective is explored in this book as are the management of landscapes and land use policies. Human dominated landscapes with long traditions such as those described herein provide useful information for all ecologists not only in Asia to better understand the human environmental relationship and landscape sustainability.

Urban Biodiversity and Ecological Design for Sustainable Cities Keitaro Ito, 2021-03-23

This book highlights various designs for urban green spaces and their functions. It provides an interesting meeting point between Asian, European and North America specialists, researchers, planners, landscape architects studying urban biodiversity, urban biodiversity and green space relations between people and biodiversity. The most important feature of this book is the unique point of view from each contributor towards the relationship between nature and people in urban areas in the context of the ecosystem and biodiversity in urban areas and how to manage them. All chapters explore and consider the relationship between humans and nature in cities, a subject which is taking on increasing importance as new cities are conceptualized and planned. These discussion and examples would be useful for urban ecology researchers, biologists, city planners, government staff working in city planning, architects, landscape architects and university instructors. This book can also be used as a textbook for undergraduate and postgraduate city planning, architecture or landscape architecture courses.

Restoration of Multifunctional Cultural Landscapes Stefan Zerbe, 2022-06-27

This book offers perspectives on how to develop a sustainable global balance of urbanization, land use intensification, land abandonment and multifunctional cultural landscapes. The focus is on the latter by describing the large variety of traditional cultural landscapes having evolved through centuries or even millennia by the use of the natural terrestrial and aquatic resources. Those cultural landscapes encompass pasture, agroforestry, terraced irrigation, coastal monastic and sacred landscapes as well as lake, river and saltscapes. The restoration of low input land use systems which often carry a high biodiversity on the species, ecosystem and landscape level as well as agrobiodiversity and agrobiodiversity is outlined. The restoration of multifunctional and diverse landscapes however is not only an ecological issue but encompasses many socio-economic aspects such as e.g. the revitalization of villages, eco-tourism.

healthy food production infrastructure and rural urban partnerships Global environmental problems which are related to urbanization and the intensification of the use of land and water resources are comprehensively outlined Land abandonment which occurs on all continents is qualitatively and quantitatively assessed and the consequences for natural and cultural heritage loss is highlighted With the presentation of current rural development and landscape conservation strategies on the national as well as international level the topic reflects the high significance of environmental policy on the global scale The global implementation of natural and cultural heritage conservation is for example given by the UNESCO World Heritage Sites National Parks Biosphere Reserves Globally Important Agricultural Heritage Sites High Nature Value Farmland and the Satoyama initiative However also the every day landscapes can contribute to biodiversity and strong sustainability This comprehensive compendium based on about 4 000 references of scientific studies literature reviews project reports and environmental policy papers is thought for all students scholars and stakeholders from multifaceted disciplines interested in multifunctional cultural landscapes and how traditions and innovation on the landscape level can be merged for a sustainable future on our planet Case studies from all over the world are presented which can be used in Higher Education or to demonstrate the numerous approaches of sustainable rural development

Biocultural Landscapes Sun-Kee Hong, Jan Bogaert, Qingwen Min, 2014-07-31 This book is devoted to the cultural and biological dimensions and values of landscapes linking the concepts of biodiversity landscape and culture and presenting an essential approach for landscape analysis interpretation and sustainable dynamics Early chapters explore the concepts and values of biocultural landscapes before addressing the methodology to identify the relationship between biological and cultural diversity The volume continues with a series of case studies and with an exploration of the key role of biocultural diversity in contemporary landscape ecology Readers will learn the importance of landscapes for different fields of natural and human sciences and are confronted to the trans disciplinary nature of the landscape concept itself A hierarchical approach to landscapes in which they are composed of interacting eco systems is shown to be essential in recognizing their emergent properties In this work the biocultural values of landscapes are explored through their diversity in geographical scopes methodological approaches and conceptual assumptions Authors from Asia Europe and North America present diverse research experiences and views on biocultural landscapes their pattern conservation and management Landscape ecologists will find this work particularly appealing as well as anyone with an interest in sustainable landscape development nature conservation or cultural heritage management This volume is the outcome of a symposium on Biodiversity in Cultural Landscapes organized in the framework of the 8th IALE World Congress held in Beijing in 2011

Forest Hydrology and Watershed Fan-Rui Meng, Altaf Arain, Qiang Li, Michael Pisarcic, 2019-08-20 Hydrological processes in forested watersheds are influenced by environmental physiological and biometric factors such as precipitation radiation temperature species type leaf area and extent and structure of forest ecosystems Over the past two centuries forest coverage and forest structures have been impacted globally by anthropogenic activities for example forest harvesting and conversion of forested landscapes for plantations and urbanization In addition since the industrial revolution climate change has resulted in profound impacts on forest ecosystems due to higher carbon dioxide CO₂ concentration or CO₂ fertilization warmer temperatures changes in frequency and intensity of extreme weather events and natural disturbances As a result hydrological processes in forested watersheds have been altered by these natural and anthropogenic factors and these changes are expected to accelerate due to future changing climatic conditions Hence understanding how various environmental physiological and physical drivers interactively influence hydrological and biogeochemical processes in forest ecosystems is critical for sustainable water supply in forested watersheds About 21% of the global population depends on water sources that originate in forested catchments where forest coverage larger than 30% Furthermore there are knowledge gaps in our understanding of the mechanism of hydrological and hydrochemical cycles in forested watersheds This Special Issue addresses these gaps in our knowledge and includes twelve papers in the following three major research themes in forest watershed areas

50 Years World Heritage Convention: Shared Responsibility - Conflict & Reconciliation Marie-Theres Albert,Roland Bernecker,Claire Cave,Anca Claudia Prodan,Matthias Ripp,2022-10-10

This open access book identifies various forms of heritage destruction and analyses their causes It proposes strategies for avoiding and solving conflicts based on integrating heritage into the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development It reflects on the identity building role of heritage on multidimensional conflicts and the destruction of heritage and considers conflict solving strategies and future perspectives Furthermore it engages theoretically and practically with the concepts of responsibility reconciliation and sustainability relating mainly to four Sustainable Development Goals i e SDGs 4 education 11 e g World Heritage 13 climate action and 17 partnerships for the goals More than 160 countries have inscribed properties on the UNESCO World Heritage list since the World Heritage Convention came into force Improvements in the implementation of the Convention such as the Global Strategy for a Representative Balanced and Credible World Heritage List have occurred but other conflicts have not been solved The book advocates for a balanced distribution of properties and more effective strategies to represent the global diversity of cultural and natural heritage Furthermore it highlights the importance of heritage in identity building

Restoration of Ecosystems - Bridging Nature and Humans Stefan Zerbe,2023-02-13 In this interdisciplinary textbook which bridges the gap between the natural and social sciences both the scientific principles of restoration ecology and practical aspects of ecosystem restoration are comprehensively presented The diversity of land use types with a focus on Central Europe is highlighted and case studies of practical restoration projects are presented The textbook offers students who deal with the environment as well as scientists and practitioners a profound and up to date but also critical overview of the state of knowledge This book opens up the broad spectrum of degraded ecosystems of Central European natural and cultural landscapes In further chapters marine ecosystems and their restoration as well as development potentials and the limits of restoration are discussed in more detail The ecological fundamentals are expanded through an interdisciplinary perspective taking into account environmental ethics sociology anthropology and economics In addition to an up to date overview of the various areas and fields of activity in restoration ecology and ecosystem restoration the textbook provides a valuable basis for studies science and practice The students also receive assistance in searching for literature and critical fact analysis and the lecturers on teaching formats and interdisciplinary approaches to discussion in restoration ecology
