Le Pilotage Du Processus De Bologne:

Le pilotage du processus de Bologne Sarah Croché, 2010-10-12 Cet ouvrage présente la manière dont la Commission européenne a pris le pilotage du processus de Bologne et retrace l'histoire de son influence sur les politiques d'enseignement supérieur en partant des années 1950. Il décrit et analyse les méthodes douces grâce auxquelles elle a mis le processus de Bologne au service des stratégies de Lisbonne et Europe 2020. Il identifie et commente les glissements qui se sont produits dans les orientations du processus chaque fois que les relations entre ses acteurs se sont modifiées. Educational

Internationalisation, 2019-02-18 This book is part of the Sense Publishers series emerging from the 2013 WCCES XV World Congress in Buenos Aires. Series Editors: Suzanne Majhanovich and Allan Pitman. The Congress Theme of New Times New Voices provided the broad frame for the conference and the series of volumes including this one which contains research contributions focusing on educational internationalisation. Ever since the early days of international and comparative inquiry in education, the idea that policy and practice might be borrowed or transferred from one location to another has been a continuing theme. Several studies included in this volume focus on the activities of governments, the interactions between supranational organisations and states, and the role of private and civil society actors in educational internationalisation. The chapters in this volume explore how internationalisation is carried out in various educational levels and through new or expanding policies and practices. Moreover, the chapters represent diverse research perspectives and geographical regions. More specifically, they examine issues pertaining to: 1. changes in the academic profession; 2. responses to the European Bologna Process and European perspectives on internationalisation; 3. political and institutional interventions that shape educational policy agendas; 4. children's rights and teacher education in Latin America; and 5. the voices of Roma interest groups. Taken together, these chapters explore the relationships between academic voices and those of international organisations, as well as how national policy makers interpret contrasting international discourses and political and social factors that influence educational internationalisation processes. A European Politics of Education Romuald

Normand, Jean-Louis Derouet, 2016-06-10 A European Politics of Education proposes a sociology of education establishing connections between empirical data coming from European scale comparative surveys, normative assumptions structuring actors' representations and interpretative judgements, and a specific focus on Lifelong Learning policy areas. It invites readers to think about the place of standards, expertise and calculations in the European space from a common perspective supported by a tradition of critical sociology and European political studies. The book addresses an important agenda: how the policies and politics of supranational Europe are making a European educational space. Contains a response to the emergence of new epistemic governance and instruments at European level. Contains contributions from the EU and the UK which give a comprehensive selection of perspectives and analysis of the field as it concerns Europe. The complexity of the contemporary European education policy space is addressed here with new lines of inquiry as well as a reflexive outlook on standardization.

policy making and actor engagement Students and researchers of European policy studies education policy analysts and theorists will all be particularly interested readers Handbook of European Policies Hubert Heinelt, Sybille Münch, 2018-01-26 This definitive Handbook addresses the current lack of research into European policymaking and development using an interpretive perspective Questioning areas that mainstream approaches tend to neglect contributors target the ways in which ideas arguments and discourses shape policies in the institutional context of the EU Decentring European Governance Mark Bevir, Ryan Phillips, 2019-02-13 Conforming neither to the hierarchical and bureaucratic organization of the European nation state nor the anarchical structure of international organizations the European Union EU and its predecessors provide an exemplary site for developing a decentred approach to the study of governance The book offers an analysis of the formation and transformation of the EU as an example of governance above the nation state and is framed by the recognition that the construction of the EU has resulted in variegated and decentred forms of governance The chapters look at distinct aspects of EU governance to bring to light the influence of elite narratives scientific rationalities local traditions and meaningful practices in the making and remaking of European governance As such each chapter offers a unique contribution to the study of the EU In doing so the book challenges dominant narratives of European integration and policymaking that appeal to reified rationalities and social structures and uncovers the contingency and conflict endemic to European governance This text will be of key interest to scholars and students of European Union politics European politics studies governance and more broadly to public management international organizations anthropology and sociology
