Michigan Christian Advocate, 1897     Child Marriage in an International Frame Mary E. John, 2021-04-12

Child marriage has been given a pre-eminent place in agendas addressing harmful practices as defined by the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals. India leads the world in the number of women who marry below the age of 18 and is therefore of unique interest to international and national forums. Refusing simplistic labels like harmful practice, this book explores the complex history of child marriage as a social and feminist issue in India across different domains. It critically reviews a wide range of historical, demographic, and legal scholarship on the subject. Major concepts relevant to child marriage, such as childhood, adolescence, the girl, and marriage, are analysed in a comparative framework that uncovers the unnoticed presence of the practice in the USA and China. The volume questions existing approaches, analyses the latest data sources, and develops a new concept of compulsory marriage. A definitive study of child marriage in India in a changing global context, this book will interest scholars and students in the fields of women's gender and sexuality studies, childhood studies, development studies, and the social sciences. It will also be of great appeal to all those working with civil society organisations, NGOs, states, and international agencies in India and globally.

This book reflects on the institutionalisation of restorative justice over the last 20 years and offers a critical analysis of the qualitative consequences generated by such a process on the normative structure of restorative justice and on its understanding and uses in practice. Bringing together an international collection of leading scholars, this book provides a range of context-sensitive case studies that enhance our understanding of the development of international, national, and institutional policy frameworks for restorative justice, the mainstreaming of practices within the criminal justice system, the proliferation of cultural, social, and political co-optations of restorative justice, and the ways in which the formalisation of the restorative justice movement have affected its values, aims, and goals.
